

HENEY SHOT BY EX-RUEF JUROR; LATE REPORTS ARE ALL HOPEFUL

LYING, BOUGHTEN PRESS TO BLAME, SAYS LANGDON

San Francisco's District Attorney Holds Prostituted Papers Equally Responsible With Higher-Ups In Attempted Murder.

Stenographic interview given the Republican by District Attorney Langdon of San Francisco, who was visiting in Fresno when Heney was shot down.

The slanderous, lying, boughten press should now be satisfied, since it accomplished the purpose it set out to do, namely, bring about assassination. Not having been contented with the assassination of men's characters, they have resorted to the barbarous methods of removing from their sphere of action and usefulness the men whose duty and sense of right impel them to oppose the nefarious schemes of rich criminals. The noisy portion of the public has tried to create the impression for some months that the prosecution should be stopped as it was injuring business. The great mass of the people, however, upon every opportunity they have had to speak through the ballot, have stood squarely for the continuance of the graft prosecution.

I am optimistic enough to believe that it will always be so in any community, however far it may drift from the higher ideals that should be found in civic life, in city, state and nation.

The great mass of the people stand for civic decency, common honesty in public and private affairs, and though they may be misled for a time yet they are inherently honest and in the long run will uphold the right and condemn the wrong.

I do not think it would be proper or opportune to express an opinion as to the effect this attempted assassination will have upon the graft prosecution, as I feel that the loss of the life of a man like Heney would make any success far too costly. However, the graft prosecution will go on. Neither kidnapping, bribery, dynamiting nor assassination will paralyze the arm of the law. The law must be enforced, the prosecution must be carried to a successful termination or anarchy must be admitted to hold sway in San Francisco. That admission will never be made.

The cause of good government has received a severe shock by the attempted assassination of Heney, one of its leading advocates who has been absolutely selfless in his services to the public. I know positively that Heney has given his entire time to the public service for two years without one dollar of compensation either given or promised. There are few men in this country who possess the traits of character which make Heney the indomitable, fearless, persevering prosecutor that he is known to be.

I trust Heney will recover, and I also hope that the press of California—that portion of the press of California which has been unjustifiably hostile to the graft prosecution—will realize the error of its way and will hereafter support and sustain the cause of good government, regardless of the personality of the men engaged in the work. The hostile press should realize that it is one of the causes of the divided sentiment in San Francisco. It has caused a Haas to be found who in open court and in the presence of many persons should wantonly shoot down a public prosecutor. The press and the men who have undoubtedly primed and encouraged Haas to wreak vengeance upon Heney from a fancied wrong arising out of the public work are to blame entirely for the tragedy of today.

Mr. Langdon was asked if he believed the attempted assassination of Heney would give rise to a vigilante committee. He said: I am a law officer of the county of San Francisco. I shall use every means within my power to suppress any movement of that kind should it be suggested or started. I believe in enforcing the law through the regularly organized channels. While it may be a slow and tedious method yet it is the safest and best and the only one that will be tolerated.

Langdon Learns the News

District Attorney W. H. Langdon of San Francisco, was in the little corner business office of the O. McHenry Meat company, at 1 and Fresno streets, when informed of the attempted assassination of Assistant District Attorney Francis J. Heney. He had just returned from an automobile journey to the abattoirs of the company in the Montpelier tract with Manager F. H. Mann of the company, and accompanied by his brother-in-law.

The information of the attempted assassination imparted to him so bewildered him for the moment that he almost slid off the high stool on which he was perched at the little counter. For a few moments he was speechless and then coming to a realization of his surroundings and the full import of the attempt upon the life of his special deputy assigned to full charge of the graft prosecutions in San Francisco, huskily asked that he be connected by long distance telephone with his office in San Francisco.

The information over the telephone as given out excitedly by Mr. Langdon to the three or four bystanders in the office was that one Morris Haas, a former juror in one of the Ruef cases, had followed Heney out of the court room, placed a revolver against his temple and had blown the top of his head off. The affair had occurred at 4:30 o'clock, and according to the information from the office Mr. Heney had survived the bullet wound only a few minutes.

Langdon Deeply Moved

Never was a man so deeply moved as Mr. Langdon apparently. He remained long silent, apparently trying to realize the situation, and steadied himself on the high stool only by holding on to the counter. His face was a study with the muscles twitching convulsively in the effort to control his emotions and to repress the tears that were ready to spring to his eyes. He sat in silent contemplation for a minute or more and then recovered power of speech. His utterances were then choked. They were, however, deliberate, and given after thought and with long pauses after each sentence. The intimate relations that existed between the two men was evidenced when he referred to him familiarly as "Frank," speaking then of one whom he verily believed had at the time been called before his Maker. Mr. Langdon said in all gravity and solemnity:

Compared to Lincoln

"Of Mr. Heney, I want to say and do say that he was a man, whose high sense of civic duty prompted him to risk his life for

MURDER TRIED IN OPEN COURTROOM

Morris Haas Says Heney Ruined Him By Exposure of His Past Criminal Record—Physicians State Wound Is Not Mortal—Intense Excitement Prevails In San Francisco—Ruef Expresses Indignation; Jailed To Protect Him From Mob.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—Early this morning the doctors in charge of Mr. Heney's case, announced that he was resting easily and that bright hopes for his ultimate recovery were entertained. It was announced that the X-ray would be employed today to locate the bullet, which lies in the muscles on the left side of the neck.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—The San Francisco bribery-graft cases had a dramatic climax today when Assistant District Attorney Francis J. Heney, who has been in charge of the prosecution during its course of two years, was shot and seriously wounded in the crowded courtroom by Morris Haas, an ex-convict. The shooting occurred during a brief recess in the third trial of Abraham Ruef on the charge of bribery, which is now in its eleventh week.

With four uniformed policemen in the hall, half a dozen of the prosecution's special detectives within a few feet, one of them detailed especially as his body guard to see that no attempt was made upon his life, and several court bailiffs and attaches scattered about, the aggressive special prosecutor whose fearless and relentless work in the exposure and prosecution of graft in the municipal affairs of this city earned him many enemies, was shot in sight of 500 persons.

Says Wound Isn't Fatal.

Mr. Heney is now in the Lane hospital and the physicians say that his wound is not fatal. Haas is in the city prison. The would-be assassin is a saloonkeeper, who was drawn upon the jury panel in the second trial of Ruef and who after having been temporarily passed by both sides, was exposed in a dramatic manner by Mr. Heney as an ex-convict and discharged from the jury. Haas declared after the shooting that Heney had ruined his life by this exposure and that he had determined to kill him for that reason.

Mr. Heney had finished the cross-examination at noon of James L. Gallagher, the prosecution's most important witness in all the bribery-graft cases and the confessed "go-between" of Ruef and the former board of supervisors. Henry Ach, chief counsel for Ruef, had subjected Gallagher to a severe cross-examination for two hours in the afternoon when Judge Lawlor declared a brief recess at 4:05 o'clock. The jury filed out and Mr. Heney and Ach and Dozier, at the request of the judge, went into his chamber to confer with him on some proposed instructions to the jury. At the conclusion of the conference, Ach, Dozier, Ruef and Judge Lawlor went out of the court room to the street in front of the building, which is located on Fulton street, near Van Ness avenue.

Mr. Heney, instead of going outside to enjoy a brief airing, stepped for a moment into an ante-room, and then came back to his counsel table. While many of the people who crowded the court room until there was no standing room left, had also gone on the outside walk, there was still a large crowd in the room.

Body Guard Eight Feet Away.

Mr. Heney was leaning over his table conversing in low tones with Al McCabe, chief clerk in the district attorney's office. Directly in front of him was James L. Gallagher, the witness, and a representative of the Associated Press had just walked to Mr. Heney's table and was standing at his left elbow waiting for an opportunity to speak to him, when a small man, neatly attired, approached the assistant district attorney from behind in quick steps, but with deliberation. Suddenly his right hand shot out and before the newspaperman, McCabe or John Foley, Heney's special body guard, standing about eight feet away, could make a move, there was a flash and a loud report rang out through the courtroom.

For a moment everybody seemed stunned and paralyzed. The would-be assassin, whose revolver was within a foot and a half of Heney's head when he pulled the trigger, stepped back, his arms by his side, one hand still clutching the smoking pistol, as if hesitating what to do. For a fraction of a second an impressive silence followed the report, while the smoke of the shot lazily floated away. Then followed a dramatic scene.

My God! He Has Shot Heney!

Some one shouted, "My God! He has shot Heney!" Exclamations of horror burst from the crowd. Half of the spectators, evidently fearing further shooting, made a frantic rush for the doors. Before the would-be murderer could raise his pistol again, Foley and E. J. Wiskotchill, a special policeman, were upon him, threw him to the floor and wrested the weapon from his grasp. He struggled, but was dragged to the jury box, thrown on his back and there held down, just as the jury, attracted by the shot, came bursting through their private entrance.

As the man who fired the shot stepped back from the assistant district attorney with the smoking weapon in his hand, he kept his eyes on Mr. Heney as if to see how effective his aim had been. Mr. Heney arose out of his chair, put his hand to his head, the blood streaming through his fingers and reddening the table in front of him, leaned over a moment and was caught as he began to fall.

He was laid on the floor, Charles Oliver and John Foley, two special detectives connected with the district attorney's office, holding his head out of the pool of blood which flowed from a hole which appeared to be just below his right temple. He was conscious and when the Associated Press representative dropped down by his side and spoke to him his first words were: "Send for my wife."

Calls Wound Fatal.

Dr. H. A. Finck, who was in the court room at the time, rushed to Mr. Heney's side, made a hasty examination and pronounced him fatally wounded. Mr. Heney was perfectly composed, the peculiar smile for which he is known, was still hovering around his lips. He evidently also believed that he was fatally hurt. Turning his eyes to Mr. John O'Gara, his assistant in the trial, he said: "I want to make a dying statement. I believe I am going to die. I was sitting, at my table when I felt what I thought was a blow. I do not know who shot me. I was doing nothing to anyone."

Ruef and his two attorneys, who were out on the sidewalk, were startled by the report and started for the courtroom, but were forced down the steps by the crowd rushing frantically out, and police refusing to admit them.

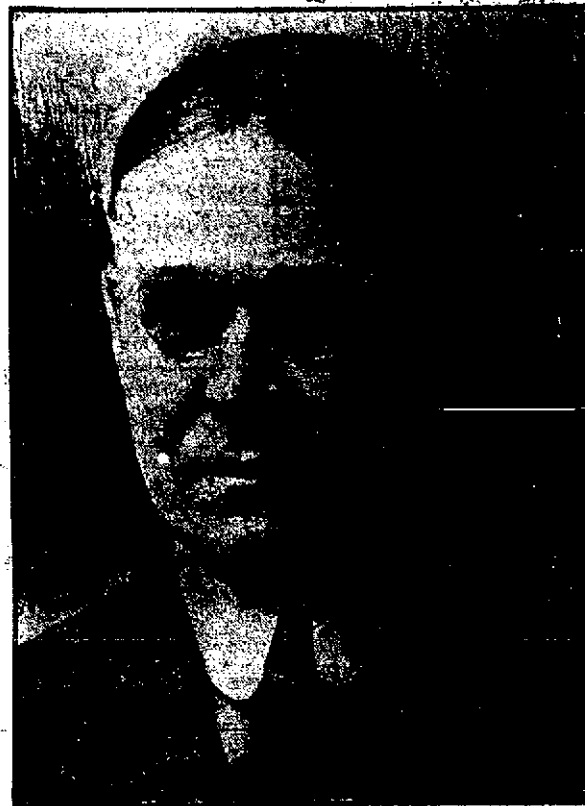

Bring Doctor in Ruef's Auto.

"What has happened?" shouted Ruef to the Associated Press representative as the latter ran out to the nearest telephone. "Heney has been shot," was the reply. "My God! Who did that?" he asked.

FRESNO CITIZENS EXPRESS THEIR DEEP INDIGNATION

People Generally Believe That Haas Was Cunningly Prompted To Desperate Deed of Foul Assassination.

FRANCIS J. HENEY

Judge Graham—It is a horrible state of affairs that exists in San Francisco regarding the graft prosecution. This is only one step removed from dynamiting and bribery of jurors, as established by judicial process. It looks as if all this lawlessness sprang from a common source.

Fulton G. Berry—Nothing has so affected me since 1856, when James King of William was shot by Casey. I was a member of the citizen's committee at that time and we took Casey out and strung him up. I don't know whether San Francisco has lost her spirit, but I believe this lawlessness has gone far enough.

J. Q. Anderson—I don't know enough about the facts hardly to express an opinion, but I am convinced that it was a plot.

Dr. Thomas Boyd—Oh, it's horrible, horrible.

Dr. E. C. Dunn—It was a plot. When Dozier and Ach left the court room it was the signal to shoot.

A. E. Snow, former District Attorney—What does an ex-convict care of his reputation? Everybody knows it. He was hired to do it.

C. L. Walter—I feel just as I would if our president were assassinated.

H. W. Swift—That ought to mean a vigilante committee.

Lee L. Gray—It's the most damnable thing I ever heard of.

H. F. Briggs, police judge—It's an outrage. I'd say worse than that if it were printable.

Judge M. K. Harris—It is the most outrageous thing that ever occurred here. It seems to indicate that we are reverting back to the old proposition when people could violate the law and escape punishment.

M. F. McCormick, assistant district attorney—I have no memory of an attempted assassination so outrageous as this one. It seems to me to be more of an attack on a principle than on a person.

I was shocked beyond measure when I learned of it.

Senator George W. Cartwright—It is the climax in the great carnival of crime which has been going on in San Francisco.

O. L. Everts—It is an awful thing. There will be something more than prosecutions now.

Sheriff R. D. Chittenden—It is one of the most regrettable instances that has happened in California in years.

D. A. Cashin—It's a damned outrage.

DEFENSE SET BACK IN LAMPHERE CASE

Coroner's Verdict Is Admitted as Primary Evidence in the Sensational Murder Trial.

LA PORTE, Ind., Nov. 12.—The defense in the Lamphere murder trial in its effort to prevent certain evidence going to the jury suffered its first defeat today when Judge Richter ruled that the report of the coroner's verdict was admissible as primary evidence. The ruling followed exhaustive arguments by the attorneys for the state and for Lamphere.

The defendant looked paler than yesterday. He was uncovered considerably during the opening statement by Prosecutor Smith of yesterday and today looked as though he had not slept well. When questioned he said Mr. Smith's statement was very strong, "but there is nothing in the claim that Richter put the question about the ruling."

Coroner Mack was the first witness on the stand. He was quite uncertain about his answers at times. He testified to the finding of the bodies in the ruins and said that one was that of an adult female and the other three were those of children.

Attorney Sutherland conducted the examination for the state. Dr. Mack testified that in addition to the bodies he found a large number of bones, including a piece of human vertebra, a part of a large jaw bone, the bones of which had been sealed in a jar, were then introduced in evidence. A piece of charred cloth taken from the palm of one of the hands was also offered in evidence and identified by the coroner. After Coroner Mack had identified the report of the inquest which he had, it was offered in evidence by the state. The defense at once objected. Upon the court ruling that the inquest report was admissible, the examination of Coroner Mack was resumed.

THE TOBACCO TARIFF UNDER CONSIDERATION

Great Revenue from This Source Makes Serious Question for Congress.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Tobacco and articles manufactured from tobacco coming under schedule "F" of the Hingley tariff law, were considered today at the public hearing before the house committee on ways and means which has in hand the work of preparing a readjustment of the tariff law for presentation to the special session of Congress to be called next March. The total importations of unmanufactured tobacco for the year 1907 were valued at $28,260,182, giving the government a revenue of $28,126,037, which indicates the importance of this article in considering any readjustment of the tariff. The exports amounted to $3,377,388.

FALLS HUNDRED FEET TO GET A DRINK

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 12.—Charles Bradford, 25 years of age, was accidentally killed yesterday by falling down a 100 foot shaft leading to an irrigation tunnel. Bradford, while out hunting, heard water dripping in the shaft and sought to get a drink. Not knowing the depth of the shaft he started to descend on an old ladder which the rungs gave way, letting him fall to the bottom. He was instantly killed. His body was found later by searchers. He was married three months ago.

CONGRESS WON'T ACT ON JAP EXCLUSION

Senator Perkins Says Only Urgent Demand Will Bring It Before Congress.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—According to Congressman Perkins of Rochester, N. Y., who probably will be chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs in the sixty-first congress and who visited the president today, nothing will be done at the coming short session of congress with the Japanese exclusion bill, now pending before the foreign affairs committee, unless there is an urgent demand for immediate action on the measure either affirmatively from the Pacific coast, or negatively from the Japanese government. Congressman Perkins expressed the belief that the Japanese matter on the Pacific coast was quiescent and that the governmental policy demanded that it be kept so for a while at least.

It was his opinion that the sixty-first congress declined to express an opinion regarding the probable action of congress on the matter finally.

PIONEER NEWSPAPERMAN LIES AT DEATH'S DOOR

REDLANDS, Nov. 12.—Belle Craig, pioneer newspaper publisher at Redlands, lies at death's door, no hope for his recovery being entertained. He was removed to the Loma Linda sanitarium several weeks ago and has grown steadily worse the end now being but a few hours off.

Craig has been engaged in the newspaper business for 30 years in Southern California. In 1887 he launched the Citrus Press, the first newspaper published at Redlands, which he has since maintained with flattering success. Craig was twice married, his first wife, whom he wedded at Boston, dying at Redlands in 1901. In the following year he married at Vallejo Mrs. Mary Linda Hoffman, well known as a writer and lawyer. During his career Craig has been vice president of the California Press association, executive member of the California and Southern Press association and member of the National Press association and for years has been county commissioner for every irrigation congress.

Lieut. Dodd Exonerated.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Lieut. Edwin H. Dodd, U. S. N., recently in command of the torpedo boat Grampus at Mare Island, and charged with carelessness in discharging a large quantity of gasoline on September 10th which resulted in a fire damage to two tugs and the drowning of two men, has been acquitted by the court martial boards and the findings have been approved by the secretary of the navy. The defense was that Lieut. Dodd had taken every precaution against fire when he discharged the gasoline in the harbor trying to have repairs made to the gasoline tank. The liquid having been set on fire in an accidental way, the court martial exonerated Lieut. Dodd from all blame in the matter.

$900,000 FOR WORK IN AMERICAN SLUMS

Methodist Church Concentrates Funds on Mission Work and Extension of Its Scope.

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 12.—The feature of today's meeting of the Home Missions of the Methodist Episcopal church was the appropriation of $900,000 for mission work in America and the request for a million and a half for church extension. The funds are to be used largely for work at the frontier posts and in the city slums. Eighteen of the twenty bishops of America took part in the proceedings.

Of the $900,000 appropriated today, 35 per cent was claimed for church extension and the balance for home missions. The sum of $41,000 was first deducted from the total for debts and about $100,000 for administration expenses. After the grand total has been decided upon, the rest of the day was occupied in apportioning the disbursements by states. California asked for one-fifth of the total appropriation for church extension, but the motion was laid on the table. During the debate on the ratio to be decided upon for church extension in conjunction with that of home missions, a delegate declared:

"The ratio of four to one for home missions over church extension is not enough. You are talking too much for the work of piling up brick and stone while the work for flesh and blood suffers just that much in proportion."

SAYS DAIRIES NEED SANITATION GREATLY

Stockton Man Says State Does Not Employ Enough Inspectors to Do the Work.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—At today's session of the convention of California Creamery Operators association, E. B. Stowes of Stockton said there was great need for the improvement of the sanitary condition of dairies throughout the state. Owing to the keen competition between creamery owners they are compelled to accept the dairy products, although they are of an inferior quality.

The cause of the laxity on the part of dairymen he attributed to the fact that at the last session of the legislature not enough money was appropriated for the use of the state dairy bureau to allow that body to employ a sufficient number of inspectors to check the products. C. L. Mitchell, U. S. inspector of dairy products, said that he was handicapped in not having power to prosecute dairymen when they violated the sanitary laws.

Other speakers were Professor E. A. Hopper of the State University farm at Davis and A. Johnston of Eureka and Arthur Briggs of the state board of trade.

$12,500,000 THEFT FOILED IN RUSSIA

YEKATERINSBURG, Russia, Nov. 12.—An unsuccessful attempt was made here today by a band of twenty-five men to rob a railroad train upon which several million rubles in specie was being conveyed to St. Petersburg. Five of the band were arrested and one was killed, but the rest of the band got away. A grand jury and a bystander were wounded. The train carried one of the quarterly shipments from the gold mining district of the Ural, said to amount to $12,500,000.

U. S. MAKES A NEW ARTILLERY RECORD

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 12.—It was announced here today that the seventy-fifth U. S. artillery company at Fort Morgan has made a record for the fort with twelve inch rifles. Out of ten shots, eight hits were made on a target six miles off the fort in the Gulf of Mexico.

Treasury Balance—Commercial. WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Today's treasury statement: Available cash balance, $162,248,859; gold coin and bullion, $24,081,632; gold certificates, $19,011,690.

Beauty and Bad Breath

Cannot Go Together No Matter How a Woman May Try to Make Them.

It does not matter how beautiful a woman may be, if she is afflicted with bad breath she will be shunned and pitied by men and even women will studiously avoid her. If any woman doubts this statement let her make a point of asking a friend in whom she may confide, a man friend or relative, if he be honest he will tell her that foul breath from the mouth of a woman will drive men from her more rapidly than any other personal defect.

You breath troubles in man disgust and where this quality is brought into play no amount of self-denial or reasoning can overcome the natural repugnance which comes to may when he is in company with such a woman. What is true of bad breath in women is not true in a great degree in men. Women are looked upon as the incarnation of sweetness, reading, virtue and refinement. Foul breath will sicken a man so that he cannot feel for such a woman a companion ship necessary to make him desire to be in her company.

There is absolutely no occasion for bad breath in either men or women. Charcoal, the strongest absorbent known, when taken into the stomach, will prevent this repugnant tendency or affliction. Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are sold in tremendous quantities all over America and Canada. They cure and have cured all forms of bad breath. A single box will convince you of this fact. One should eat some of these lozenges after each meal and upon retiring. You might eat fifty of them without harm. They are not medicine, but pure willow charcoal mixed with sweet flavor to make them palatable and converted into a lozenge to preserve their peculiar and lasting strength.

The next time you wish to go into company and don't want a foul breath to illuminate you, eat several of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges and your breath will be pure and sweet. Every drugstore carries them, price 25 cents, or send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 200 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

HAPPY RESULTS OBTAINED. By the Use of the New Scalp Antiseptic.

It wouldn't take long to number the hairs in the heads of some people, the reason being they haven't many to number. In many instances, however, the "bald" is their own. A germ at the root soon plays havoc with the most luxuriant growth and causes it to fade and fall out. A remedy for this has recently been discovered, called Noronol, Harpids, that acts by destroying the germ that does the damage, besides removing all impurities from the scalp. In addition it permits new life and vigor to enter the scalp, and happy results are sure to be obtained from its use. Try it. Sold by leading druggists. IDENTITY CLUE TO A SKELETON

Dead Man May Be the Missing
Charles Frantz.

New Mexico Relatives Written to Locate the Lost Coaling Man.

Justice of the Peace W. H. Kerr of Coalinga, who is also acting coroner in the west side of field, was in town yesterday and reported that within the last three days he has discovered a clue that may lead to the identity of a skeleton that has been in his keeping since the first of the month. That clue is that the dead man may prove to be Charles Frantz, who was a trust-about in the oil fields and disappeared mysteriously from Coalinga about four months ago.

Relatives supported to him in New Mexico have been written to and answer is expected from them to locate Charles Frantz if alive.

The skeleton was discovered on the level plains in a clump of green sagebrush, about half a mile northeast of Coalinga near the water plant on section 16-19-15. It was a bare skeleton with the flesh picked off by crows, buzzards and coyotes, save the right forearm, which had been protected by the overhanging undershirt sleeve which covered it, though the flesh upon it was dried and mummified. The left arm bone was torn from the shoulder socket and was missing. The appearance of the ground showed that the corpse had been on the ground in two places other than the one where the skeleton was found, evidently having been dragged about by predatory animals.

The skeleton was that of a man who was five feet and seven inches in stature. On the forearm was a tattoo mark in blue, hardly distinguishable, but of the letters "F. R. Z. T." The appearance of the mummified state of the hanging-on flesh. The two initials have been deciphered to read J. S. and under them is the dim representation of some device, which some declare resembles open scissor blades, or they may be crossed swords, or some similar device.

Although the plain surrounding the place of the finding of the skeleton has been searched over three times for a full square mile little or nothing of the clothing of the dead man was discovered, adding to the difficulty experienced in making the identification of the dead.

The only shred of clothing on the skeleton was the remnant of the trousers waistband. It had a label that the trousers were of the Frantz brand and the back was another label, hardly decipherable, showing that the make was that of the firm of Ladin Band Clothing company of Bartlesville, Okla. Tucked in the waist band was also a cheap dollar watch.

The appearance of the skeleton at the place of finding gave evidence that it probably was not more than two or three months old and that it should have been there even as long as that without discovery was remarkable in view of the fact that with a few feet more the plain of the desert trail, not more than a month old, of the wagon of a sheepman headed direct from the oil field, and even nearer than that the zig-zag trail of a hunter's buggy, the place where the skeleton was found being one favored by snipe, plover and like game birds.

The remains having been reduced to a fleshless skeleton, there was no evidence as to the cause of death. Nor did the skull or bones show any fracture.

The supposition is that death was from exhaustion, or from the great sunbaked of the summer, possibly after a debauch. There are physical evidences going to show that the unknown, whoever he was, had laid down to rest and had removed his shoes and one sock, the other being yet on the foot.

Justice Kerr says that 500 men have looked upon the recovered hat, shoes and sock and one man was found who said he thought they looked like those that Frantz wore. The dead man had a full set of teeth, but with one tooth missing from the lower jaw. Frantz was a man who weighed about 150 pounds, had red light hair and while he had tattoo marks on him, no one has been found that can remember what the device was. The general description of Frantz would correspond with that of the skeleton of the dead man, who was sandy haired, according to tufts found where the skeleton had lain and the hair on the mummified forearm.

SURPRISE AT REHEARSAL OF CHURCH CHOIR MEETING

John McSharry and Fiedtee Presented
With Beautiful Silver
Set.

The meeting of St. John's choir was held last evening at the residence of the director, Miss Catherine Ballis, on Blackstone avenue, and a pleasing turn was given to the routine work of rehearsal by the surprise given to two of the prominent members, Miss May Phillips and John McSharry.

They will soon be married, and their fellow-members planned the presentation of a silver set, arranging that the principals should remain in ignorance of this until last night. Miss Catherine Ballis favored the assembled members with one of Abt's love songs and then Charles Remington followed with the presentation speech.

He expressed the esteem of the choir for Miss Phillips and Mr. McSharry, and presented them with the beautiful gift. Despite the confusion caused by this unexpected token of regard, Mr. McSharry responded for his fiancée and himself, saying he felt further honored by the presence of the Very Reverend Monsignor McCarthy, who addressed words of congratulation and advice to the young couple, and expressed the desire to see many others of their present do as they do.

Joseph Kaiser was another guest and the choir had the pleasure of hearing him give two solos. Rev. James P. Mitchell then made a few remarks, and following him, Mesdames Lane and Hoffmann, the Misses Ballis and Rosenthal, Messrs. Romphuro and McSharry, Edward Bermingham, Charles Ryan, and Dr. Anthony gave solos. Later light refreshments were served. Among those present were Mrs. Anthony, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Harvey, Mr. Lane and the Misses Jones and Mary Harley, Shaw, Broad, Freuschoff and Gertrude Morrin.

Awards Gold to Miners.

DENVILLE, Nov. 13.—By a decision just rendered by Judge Robert E. Lewis in the federal court the Goldfield Mohawk Mining company recovers about $20,000, the value of gold ore said to have been stolen from its mines in Goldfield and vicinity by "Big Ben" and his gang.

The decision was the final adjudication of the suit of the mining company against the Wells Fargo Express company, by which the ore was shipped from a station near Goldfield to Pueblo, and there received by U. S. mail on behalf of the mine.

NO END IN SIGHT FOR LILLIS CASE

"Dummies" Put On Witness Stand Yesterday.

District Attorney Lawlor Seeking to Impeach Testimony of Several.

According to present indications, the Lillis case will not go to the jury before Monday. The prosecution still has a large number of witnesses to put on and the defense has not started at its case. Whether or not the defense will introduce a volume of evidence to break down the chain formed by the attorneys for the government, or allow the case to rest on its merits is a matter of conjecture among those in attendance on court. No definite answer will be secured until the government ends its case in all probability.

The substance of the testimony introduced yesterday was, as forecasted, used to show that these "dummies" who filed on the land were employed by Lillis through Wright to do the work. In addition to the statements of the witnesses, checks signed by Wright and payable to the account of S. C. Lillis were offered in evidence showing payments made by Lillis for filing on the land.

District Attorney Lawlor started out on a new line yesterday afternoon and sought to impeach the testimony of several of the witnesses who were disposed to be partial to Lillis and who made statements which he declared were directly opposite to those made in his office. This line of testimony will be continued today.

Wright resumed the stand yesterday morning and told of talking about fifty men to the land office at Visalia to file homestead entries. He was followed by Registrar Stewart of the Visalia land office, who in turn was followed by witnesses who had been employed by Wright to act for Lillis.

Charles Cummings stated that he had taken a wagonload of men to Visalia to file on the lands and that he had brought them back to the Lillis ranch. He said the expenses of the trip were paid by Wright.

One or two witnesses were called who testified to having acted as fence riders on the Lillis ranch. One man, Dickerson, was so conflicting in his statements that the attorneys for the defense let him go in disgust. He declared that he had been ordered to keep sheep off the Lillis ranch, but not to interfere with anyone on the government land. When questioned at first, Dickerson said he had no knowledge of the location of the lands. He later said he knew where they were. He then declared that he had been told by Lillis to ride the fences and when pinned down admitted that Lillis had never told him anything.

Other witnesses who were examined for the government yesterday were Joseph E. Gonzales, Arthur Dickerson, Frank Feltz, James Street, Chester Dickerson, Ramon Rodriguez, Effie M. Jones, Ed L. Dickerson, Albert Lovelace, David W. Hall, Euphonia Lopez, Lorenz Mendez, N. Ballard, Sando Martinez, Joe Rivera, A. R. Heber, Andrew Gonzales, Albert Wilson and Gustav Merz.

The witnesses for the government today will be used mainly to impeach the testimony of several of those who were on the stand yesterday. The grand jury was not in session yesterday, but will meet today. It is not known whether any work will come before it at today's session.

CHESTER H. ROWELL, EDITOR AND MANAGER

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION OF FRANCIS J. HENEY

If ever a man faced death for the public good, it is F. J. Heney. For two years he has stood daily and hourly in the presence of death. Hired thugs have haunted him; hired spies have watched him; hired liars have slandered him; and now a hired murderer has shot him.

No soldier ever sacrificed himself more bravely for the public good, and no hero ever deserved better of the public gratitude. A million prayers should ascend for his early and complete recovery.

And there should be no hesitation in fixing the responsibility definitely and positively where it belongs. A miserable crank fired the bullet, but the men who hired that crank once, to perjure his way to a seat on the former Ruff jury and who hired him with other thugs, in this trial to stand around to overawe the forces of justice, cannot escape responsibility if he exceeded the letter of his instructions in this crime. Least of all, can the slanderous press escape the consequences of its acts. There were those who considered it far-fetched to hold Hearst and his cartoons responsible for the death of McKinley. Now that a like series of cartoons have driven another addled brain to a murderous attack on another public servant, perhaps the conclusion will not seem so strange.

The gutter press, from the Examiner down, which has poisoned the minds of so many better men, worked only its natural result when it put murder into the heart of a bad man with a fancied grievance, who had already been hired to commit lesser crimes.

If anything can stir the conscience of San Francisco, this should. Francis J. Heney has risked, and perhaps sacrificed, his life for the people of California and he has been repaid chiefly with contumely and ridicule. He is a great, lovable, heroic, unselfish soul, whom the state and the nation have not honored half enough. May his life be spared, to finish his work and come to his just reward.

MYSTERY VS. TRUTH

Bishop Fallows proposes to extend his work of mental healing, which has become a feature of his local church work, by an international "League of Right Living," with local centers wherever there is a demand for them. The work has the endorsement of eminent neurologists and physicians, has already attained some striking successes, and is doubtless intended as an intelligent outlet for the impulses which have drifted into the vagaries of Christian Science.

But, just because it is intelligent, we doubt the success of the movement. Mental science is mysterious, at best, and is most mysterious at the point where mental and physical come together. These questions must be intelligently studied, to clear away as much as possible of the mystery. But as a popular movement, to organize the multitude, mystery is precisely the secret of success. Christian Science is a success, not for the truths which it adumbrates, but for the garb of mystery with which it conceals them. The truths of Christian Science have been known for centuries, and have received brilliant expression from philosophers all the way from Plotinus to Bishop Berkeley, to say nothing of the ancient Theophrastus of India and of the modern scientific psychologists. These truths are important, and are too little understood. But their tremendous vogue as a popular fad came only when Mrs. Eddy, who does not understand them at all, organized them into a cult in which nobody else is permitted to explain them.

To the untrained mind, the mysticism of Fallows, or the wisdom of Berkeley are no more intelligible than the rapt jumble of Mrs. Eddy's sophisms, and the Eddy mystification, just because it is meaningless, is the easier to go into ecstasies over. The popular mind prefers to walk by faith rather than by light, and it is easier to concentrate faith where there is no risk of its being disturbed by understanding. The medical profession was a tremendous success, so long as it was a mystery, but now that it has thrown off its cloak, the people run after quacks, who still give them the magic they demand. The political quack, whose remedy nobody can understand, gets a tremendous following of men who despise the wisdom of the clear-headed statesman because, being comprehensible by them, they conclude that he has no more sense than they have. Even writing was an authoritative art, so long as it was a mystery. "It is written" was sufficient sanction to compel belief. There is a mystic authority still in the printed word, among those to whom the art of book-making is a mystery. Else why should we accept the dictum of grammars and dictionaries that certain things are "wrong" when in point of fact, they accord with the universal usage of language? And every clergyman knows how many of his hearers resent anything that makes the truths of religion clear. The people want mystery, and so long as Mrs. Eddy gives them mystery, we fear Bishop Fallows will not be able to compete by giving them truth.

GET-A-BANKER

At the joint meeting of the state legislative committee and the committee of the California Bankers' association, after a violent controversy, the legislators gained their point, by striking out of the proposed banking bill the provision that the superintendent of banks shall be a banker of experience. The bankers were of the opinion that a competent man of experience could be had for $7500 a year, but the legislators insisted on raising the salary to $10,000 a year, and striking out the requirement of experience. We have no objection to the $10,000 salary, if that will secure a better man, though the judgment of the bankers as to cost of a capable expert of their own profession ought to be conclusive. But California can afford to pay whatever it costs to guard the safety of its banks. What it can not afford to do is have a system of guarding, however cheap, which does not guard. And it is as sensible to assert that an intelligent layman is a competent bank commissioner as it would be to allege that an intelligent banker is competent to be state printer. It takes an expert to do expert work, and the sooner American politicians find that out, the sooner we shall have efficient administration. An "intelligent layman" can not run this newspaper's circulation.

by watching the counter on the press and looking up the books. It takes a man who knows the game. The same thing is still more strikingly true of the examination of the condition of a bank. The new superintendent of banks will of course not make all these examinations personally, but he will appoint those who do, he will establish the system under which they do it, and be responsible for it. That will be expert work of the highest sort, which it would be criminal to intrust to any man not already expert in the banking business.

Of course the practical result of the provision, if adopted as the legislative committee recommends, would be to give the office as a fat plum to some politician of the John J. Lynch type. It would be the finest place in the gift of the governor, and would go to the man, or the friend of the man, who had delivered the delegates that had nominated the governor. Such a man would rarely be competent and would never be appointed by reason of competency. Just to propose it is an outrage on the people and the business of California.

Now let the infamous Examiner run a Mutt cartoon of the attempted assassination of Francis J. Heney, as likely of the dynamite outrages. And let the hired defamers of the graft prosecutor shout "Heneyism!"

THREE INDICTED IN CARMACK CASE

Judge Cooper, Son, and Ex-Sheriff Sharp Named By Grand Jury for Murder.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 13.—The grand jury of Davidson county returned a true bill today in which Colonel Duncan B. Cooper, his son Robin B. Cooper, and ex-Sheriff John D. Sharp, are jointly charged with the murder of former Senator E. W. Carmack and in which Sharp is indicted also on the charge of being an accessory before the fact.

The names of six witnesses appear on the back of the indictment as follows: Mrs. Cobey D. Carmack, Mrs. Charles Eastman, Carey Folk, Dr. James Wittenberg, Mrs. Martha Morgan and Mrs. Mary Skeffington.

The Mrs. Carmack, in the list, is the widow of the former senator. It was Mrs. Carmack whom Mr. Carmack sought out before the shooting. Carey Folk is deputy insurance commissioner and passed along the street near the time of the killing. Mrs. Morgan lives diagonally across from the scene. Dr. Wittenberg runs an optical establishment on the west end of the Arcade through which the Coopers, accompanied by Sharp, are alleged to have passed shortly before the tragedy. Miss Mary Skeffington is state librarian.

There are two points in the indictment the first charging the three in jointly with the murder and the second charging John D. Sharp with being an accessory before the fact.

The name of S. C. Carmack, a brother of the slain man appears in the indictment as prosecutor.

Physicians attending young Cooper, who was wounded in the shoulder by a ball from Carmack's revolver, said tonight that their patient was doing as well as could be expected. Cooper will be able to be moved within several days.

WOMAN USES A BOMB TO BLOW UP TAXICAB

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The explosion of what is supposed to have been a dynamite bomb in a taxicab in front of the Grand Central station at 42nd street created excitement in the vicinity at midnight. The cab was wrecked but no one was hurt. According to the police the machine was hired by a woman in front of a Broadway restaurant and she is supposed to have placed the bomb. The taxicab was blown to fragments. The woman evidently had some knowledge of the machine, for she had placed the bomb in just the spot where it would do the most damage.

ROOSEVELT AS EDITOR FOR STANDARD OIL

LABOR CONVENTION HAS SHORT SESSION

Hour and a Half Was Enough for Yesterday — Conflicts Over Motions Forestalled.

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 13.—After a session of only an hour and a half today, the convention of the American Federation of Labor adjourned until tomorrow morning. During the rest of the day the various committees were busy with resolutions and other matters referred to them.

The first order of business was the report of the committee on rules on the following rule which had been submitted to the committee:

"No negative motion or negative substitute shall be entertained."

After a brief discussion the rule was voted down and a new rule adopted as follows:

"Committee reports shall be subject to amendments or a substitute to which any motion is subject."

"The object of this rule is to prevent conflicts over negative motions or motions to non-concur on committee reports."

Previous conventions have had the same dispute over this question and the delegates were anxious to debate the matter. The rule was finally adopted by 187 yeas.

The report of the committee on rules was then adopted as a whole.

The secretary read invitations from the next federation convention from Detroit, Milwaukee, St. Louis, Lansing, Mich., Toronto and Washington.

NEW FREIGHT SUBWAYS TO BANISH THE HORSE

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The plan of the New York Parcel Delivery company for building a system of freight subways under New York city and Brooklyn was outlined before the public service commission today. Congressman Charles N. Fowler, appearing for the company, said it was proposed to build the freight subways under the passenger subway. The system would consist of a series of tunnels through the city, each tunnel equipped with cars capable of carrying from one to five tons. The cars would work automatically and would run to the department stores, warehouses and retail stores. The hearing was adjourned to December 4th.

Mr. Fowler said that the freight subway would banish the horse in New York and that the city would save $5,000,000 a year in the wear and tear of street pavements.

THE UNIONISTS CARRY PORTO RICAN ELECTIONS

SAN JUAN, P. R., Nov. 13.—Official election returns show that the Unionist party carried all seven districts of the island. The Unionists advocated independence and self-government.

DENVER, Nov. 13.—When shown a printed story to the effect that Mrs. Allen F. Reed, who attempted to exact money from Mrs. Clarence Chandler by threatening her life with dynamite, was escorted to the American House on the day of her arrival in this city by a railway mail clerk named E. J. Sawyer, the police authorities denied that they were looking for such a man, and said that this was the first they had ever heard that such a person existed.

The hotel people declare that Mrs. Reed was unaccompanied when she appeared and the clerk's desk and wrote the name "Mrs. H. C. Reed" upon the register.

The condition of Mrs. Reed tonight is satisfactory. Her friends fear that she cannot recover from the shock of her arrest and the effect of drugs previously taken.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS OF STATE PRESS

Rockefeller Added to List of Liars

One result of the late campaign was a material extension of Roosevelt's list of liars.

Most painful to contemplate is the addition of the name of John D. Rockefeller to the White House roll of liars. While it is true that the president did not use "the shorter and uglier word," he very plainly intimated that the eminent philanthropist was lying when he declared himself for Hughes.

And the saddest thing about it is that the venerable gentleman has just published a book concerning himself which is full of the kindest sentiments toward all mankind, including even his enemies and detractors. It is a book of yielding to the stern necessities of up-to-date business, he was obliged to crush out competition, but he did it in a Christian spirit, and very much of the profit has been given to the Lord. If any relating with the Rockefeller was not by his done by employees, it was not by his done by employees, and the truth is that nobody has been convicted of anything of the sort, and nobody is in jail.

Of course there was a decision against the Standard Oil company, but Judge Grosscup set it aside as unjust and illegal, and so the corporation stands vindicated before the world. Sacramento Bee.

THANKSGIVING SOAP

Defeat Has Not Weakened Bryan

Three times William Jennings Bryan appeared before the American people, asking them to crown him with the laurel of the presidency, and three times he has been refused.

The same thing happened to Henry Clay. And yet there are few of our presidents who hold the place in the minds and the hearts of the people of the American people that Henry Clay does.

And so it will be with William Jennings Bryan. Defeated never to be president, he will live in history as greater than most of our presidents.

Although the boys will never crown him, his will still be a name to conjure with. Defeat, after defeat has not lessened his grip upon the affections of the American people. As a private citizen he will continue a power in the land he loves and which loves him. His words, his counsel, will ever be a guidance to those who believe in his public honesty and in private manhood. His honest ending battle for the rights of the people will be as a lamp to the feet of others. Still will the multitudes gather inspiration from his valiant and unflinching integrity in all great public crises, and yet with the millions turn to Lincoln as to Mecca.

Defeated, still he is victorious. Defeat never to be president, yet he wields the power to force presidents to be but Bryan in office. A private citizen, such has been and his power, that the president has made the name of Roosevelt famous by marching off, literally along the identical path blazed by Bryan; while the president-elect adorns his victory because The People believe he will honestly endeavor to continue the good work in Bryan's name. National convention declared he would not do, but which declaration was amended by endorsing the principles Bryan doctrines.

There has been no dishonor in the triple defeat of William Jennings Bryan. At the end of this third one, the crowd appeared in honor, undiminished in his power over the common people, unimpaired in their hearts, as strong and potent to do battle for Right against wrong as ever he was.—Sacramento Bee.

His formal arraignment was postponed until next Monday.

"Senator" Roosevelt

Already the post-election calm has been stirred by the query: "Shall Roosevelt be elected senator?"

Like the effect of an electric spark, the nation is instantly aroused. With the people the only question that delays answer is: "Will he take it?" To the Morgans, the Harrimans and the Rockefeller, the perplexing question is: "Will he take it?"

As the people view it, Roosevelt in the senate would be a much-needed tonic; as the corporation chiefs view it, his presence there would be "poison."

What a glorious and tumultuous era the next four years would prove with the old in the presidential chair grinding out "policies" and Theodore Roosevelt in the senate clubbing the sleepy and reluctant members of the millionaires' club into action!

Our vote is "Yes." Give New York—the nation's Senator Roosevelt.—Los Angeles Express.

Man Who Does Things

Men in public life will do well to study the character of that inspiring leader, Governor Hughes. Especially to those who have recently been selected as our state lawmakers do we commend the public career of the fearless executive.

Governor Hughes, in the first place, is a man who does things. He does not go skyroving over the country telling idle folks what he would like to do. He simply buckles down to the job and does things. It takes the most important task that he can conveniently lay his hands on, and proceeds to work it out.

Governor Hughes asks no favors from party leaders. He is not in the sphere of politicians. Yet he contrives to impress his views upon them, and to compel them to do what he believes is important to have done.

There is nothing magnetic about Hughes. There is nothing brilliant; nothing that ordinarily excites popular enthusiasm. There is none of that—nothing

THE HOUSE THAT SAVES YOU MONEY

A Strong and Sturdy Race

Scotland reared a strong and sturdy race on oatmeal porridge. The brawny Scot was an out-door man with a digestion like an ox. But you don't have to wear kilts and live out of doors to digest H-O.

It's different from the raw oatmeal that is sold as "rolled oats." It is steam-cooked three hours under high pressure by a patent process. It retains all the nutriment in the oats without hulls or dirt—the cleanest and best oatmeal on the market, and the only kind that's steam-cooked. Ten minutes' boiling prepares it for the table. Ask your grocer for H-O.

H-O

"When do I get more."

GARTENLAUB BELIEVES GROWERS WILL GET 4 CTS

Says With Strong Association Even 5 Cents Not Beyond the Possibilities.

A. Gartenlaub of San Francisco, manager of the Phoenix Packing company, stated yesterday that, in case a strong and successful association of growers and pool of raisins is formed, as planned, 4 cents in the sweetbox and even 5 cents in the sweatbox will yet be paid this season. However, Mr. Gartenlaub places the size of the present carry-over and new crop at 30,000 tons, at least, and says that while the effect of a successful pool will be to stiffen the market, which exists, some goods will do less well than others. But, I think carry-over will certainly be had, and that such is normal at periods when there is no speculation.

"An association of growers and a pool which shall represent a strong percentage of the crop will certainly have a stiffening effect on the market which exists," said Mr. Gartenlaub last evening. "It will be a good thing for the raisin business. It is getting late in the season for the Atlantic seaboard trade, but there are raisins left."

"The pool never been a pool formed here yet of 80 per cent of the crop, or of the unsold part of the crop, and if they have succeeded in getting this amount in, as is stated, the pool is now complete enough. But, I think that the hold-over exceeds 20,000 tons at present. It is hard to estimate this, but I think that the hold-over is at least 20,000 tons."

"What do I think of a 4 cents sweatbox price? If the growers' association is strong and a high percentage of the goods is held in a competent organization, that price will be paid for some raisins, and even 5 cents may be paid, as the trade demands the goods. But all of the raisins will not be sold. It will be a part of them which will get a higher price if pooled. The general effect of a pool will be excellent."

"There will be a hold-over this season. It is only natural. The output of a year in raisins cannot be eaten in sixty days, and there will always be some goods held over when there is an absence of speculation; and there is such an absence this season, very markedly. Unless some speculator will load up on goods with the prospect of getting a higher price for futures, the trade cannot consume the crop of raisins, hand to mouth, in the fall and winter months, and through the holiday season."

"The diversity of prices noticeable in New York means only that all of the dealers are not doing business as they happen to make at the time."

"I am a grower myself, owning a good deal of vineyard in this locality, and I went in one of the associations in the past. But, I sold this season before there was any pooling done, and so have not signed up in the present association."

"Those people in the East know as much about raisins as we do, as they keep closely and accurately posted. With a big power of the raisins here under one competent management, the effect in the East will be noticed."

LIBERALS IN CUBA ARE STRONG

Indications That Conservatives Will Lose in the Election Being Held in Island Republic.

BLOODSHED BETWEEN RIVAL POLITICIANS

Marked Decline in Conservative Spirit in Last Few Days and Murder of a Liberal at Cienfuegos, for Obscure Reasons

HAVANA, Nov. 13.—On the eve of Cuba's national election the conditions for a victory for the Liberal ticket headed by Gen. Jose Miguel Gomez and Alfredo Zelaya, candidates respectively for the presidency and vice presidency of the republic, apparently are gaining strength. Within twenty-four hours there has been marked depression in the confidence of the followers of General Mario Menocal and Dr. Rafael Montoro, the candidates of the Conservatives, with a corresponding feeling of assurance of victory by the Liberals. The polls will open at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning and close at 6 in the evening. At Cienfuegos, always a political storm center, where General Menocal complained recently of the hostile attitude of the police, tranquility is assured by the action of Mayor Figueroa. While denying General Menocal's charge against the police, he requested Governor Magoon to place an American army officer in charge of his force.

Governor Magoon has detailed Captain Whiteside of the Fifteenth cavalry to act as supervisor.

CENFUEGOS, Nov. 13.—Gonzalo Garcia Vela, a Conservative, former mayor of Cienfuegos, shot and killed Eduardo Prieto, a Liberal, tonight. Vela alleges that Prieto insulted and attacked him. It is not known whether the quarrel had its origin in politics. Governor Aleman of Santa Clara province dismissed Vela from the post of mayor of Cienfuegos in November two years ago. Vela was a strong Moderate and was bitterly opposed by the Liberals for alleged complicity in the murder of Enrique Villaverde, the Liberal leader in 1905 at Cienfuegos. Villaverde was killed in a fight with the police. It was said that a store of arms had been deposited in a hotel in which Villaverde lived and the police were sent there to make an investigation. According to the story, a party of Liberals, it is said, fired on the police, killing their chief. The police returned the fire and Villaverde was slain.

CHINESE ON STEAMER SHOOT FOUR OF CREW

Cook Who Lost Money at Fantan Retaliates on His More Lucky Countrymen.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 13.—When the German steamer Wandgard was steaming from New Castle, Ariz., to Puget Sound, Ariz., other Chinese members of the crew. Only flesh wounds were inflicted and none of the victims were seriously wounded. The assault occurred on the high seas October 15, and when the steamer was in the South Pacific. The cause of the outbreak was the loss of the cook's money in a fantan game.

PERSIANS PREPARE TO RESIST RUSSIA

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 13.—A special dispatch received here from Jaffa, on the frontier between Persia and Russia, says a detachment of Persian nationalists has been sent by Sattar Khan from Teheran and is engaged in throwing up fortifications in the vicinity of Jaffa for the purpose of resisting a possible Russian advance toward Teheran.

NO MORE PROGRESS IN BALKAN AFFAIR

Expected Note from Austro-Hungary Fails to Arrive and Negotiations Are Suspended

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 13.—No progress was made today in the negotiations between the powers with regard to the Balkan situation. The courier with the expected note from the Austro-Hungarian government has not yet arrived here, and it is now said that his communication probably will not be presented before next week. This delay is explained by the theory that Baron Von Schoenthal, the Austro-Hungarian minister of foreign affairs, desires to note the progress of the negotiations between Austro-Hungary and Turkey before committing himself on the question of international congress.

MAE OTIS PRONOUNCED SANE BY PHYSICIAN

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Mae L. Otis, who was arrested last night on a charge of plotting to do away with her mother through the agency of hired thugs, was pronounced sane tonight by Dr. Blake Baldwin, city physician. Dr. Baldwin, at the request of the police, spent an hour with the prisoner, talking to her on various subjects. When the test was over he declared that the girl's mind seemed normal, although she was on the verge of a nervous collapse.

Politicians Having a Lark. HOT SPRINGS, Va., Nov. 13.—The vacation outing of various officials of the present and coming national administrations who are here were not disturbed by consideration of affairs of state. Vice President-elect Sherman was out early on the golf links with William L. Ward, national committeeman from New York. President-elect Taft devoted most of the day to the preparation of the speech he is to deliver in Brooklyn tomorrow at the unveiling of the monument to the prison ship martyrs. He will leave for Brooklyn tonight.

EMPEROR OF CHINA IS DEAD

But Reports of Demise Are Not Yet Confirmed Officially at the Oriental Capital City.

PRINCE CHUN REGENT AND PU WEI THE HEIR

Dowager Empress Reported Dead, Also, in Streets of Peking, But Nothing of Her Condition Definitely Known

PEKING, Nov. 13.—The emperor of China was reported dead at 4 o'clock this morning. It had, however, been impossible to secure official confirmation of this announcement up to 6 o'clock this evening. His majesty was taken to the death chamber at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. At that hour he was still breathing.

Two imperial edicts were issued from the palace this afternoon in quick succession. The first makes Prince Chun regent of the empire and the second appoints his son, Pu Wei heir presumptive.

Simultaneously with the removal of the emperor from the Winter palace to the death chamber in the Forbidden City, the members of the grand council assembled in the palace. The dowager empress was present at the meeting and is reported to have swooned. At half past 4 o'clock this afternoon a palace official of high standing said the emperor was still alive.

All the government offices were deserted. The palace is crowded with officials.

Prince Chun is a brother of the emperor. His name is Tsai Pong and he succeeded to the title of his father, Prince Chun, in 1891. He is a lieutenant general of the Plain White Banner corps, and visited Germany in 1901 as a special commissioner of the throne.

The last illness of the emperor assumed a serious aspect a fortnight ago. It was then declared that he was suffering from a grave festival complaint. His majesty has been suffering for ten years from chronic nephritis, which recently became complicated with diabetes and syphilis. It was admitted yesterday that his brain was affected. The members of the grand council have been in close attendance at the palace for ten days. Statements officially gazetted that his majesty was in conference with the councilors were absolutely untrue and were made for the purpose of misleading the public.

PEKING, Nov. 13.—It is reported that the empress dowager is also dying.

The rumor, if true, would explain the two edicts issued this afternoon regarding a regency for the empire.

The foreign residents of Peking are confused by the sudden developments of today and the various reports and rumors emanating from the place. It is absolutely impossible to obtain official confirmation of the reported death of the emperor and the condition of the dowager empress. There is a certain amount of speculation in regard to what is actually transpiring. It is believed that the government will utilize the dying condition of the emperor, if he is not already dead, to screen the conditions of the dowager empress. The edicts of today bear the name of Kuang Hsu, which indicates that he was still alive at the hour the members of the grand council were in conference at the palace. This was at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The second edict orders that Pu Wei, son of Prince Chun, a child 5 years old, be trained in the palace for succession to the throne. This makes him heir presumptive.

The hour of the day at which the edicts were issued shows that the imperial family as well as the grand councilors shaford declining upon the appointment of the prince to the regency and awaited the return of Prince Ching, president of the board of foreign affairs from the eastern tombs, whither he went to inspect the mausoleum of the dowager empress.

The death of the Emperor of China, if it proves true, brings to an end the reign of a sovereign feeble in mind and body who has been dominated all his life by the all-powerful influence of the dowager empress. Kuang Hsu's reign will be completely lost in the rule of the Emperor of China. The emperor was born in 1870. His succession to the throne was one of purely arbitrary and illegal acts of the dowager empress, who deposed him into succession from a generation the same as that of the great emperors, although the dynasty of the Manchu chi dynasty and precedent provide that successions have to go to the next following generation.

Kuang Hsu was 4 years old when made emperor and his reign is the third in point of duration in the history of the dynasty. Kuang Hsu and his son, Pu Wei, each having reigned and ruled sixty years.

The question of the succession has agitated the imperial family since the autumn of 1907, when it was perceived that the health of the emperor was seriously undermined. In January of 1908 the dowager empress adopted Pu Chun, son of Prince Tuan, the boxer chieftain, her apparent, but she disinherited him in November, 1901, at the behest of the allied powers. Since then the matter has been in a state of confusion and the dowager empress in whose hands the power of election was, gave no clue to her purposes or determination.

The dowager empress is and the emperor was in Manchuria. In other words, foreigners in China, and under the ban of Chinese patriots and an increasing anti-Manchu party which has sought the suppression of the dynasty and the restoration of a Chinese emperor to the throne. It has been freely predicted that the demise of the emperor would be followed by an attempt at a coup d'etat, but the imperial edicts mentioned in the dispatch from Peking appear to have forestalled any immediate action of this kind. Kuang Hsu was a son of the brother of the husband of the dowager empress.

Will Prevent Collision.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 13.—Dr. H. Miller, an electrical engineer in the Union Pacific shops, has equipped an engine in the yards with a device which the officials declare will greatly lessen the danger of collisions. It enables dispatchers and station agents to signal engineers between stations, thus putting them practically in constant touch with running trains.

COMEDY OF REAL MERIT AT BARTON

Change from Trash Is Highly Appreciated.

Cast Is Well Balanced and Players Are Adapted to Their Parts.

After an overdose of trashy, inconsequential comedies it seemed good to see on the Barton stage a comedy like "The Rivals" one which has lived through years and stood the test of time. The audience which filled the Barton last night was lavish with its applause, but there should have been a larger audience, considering the merit of the performance.

The cast was a remarkably capable one, headed as it was by the two Jeffersons, who need not the fame of their illustrious father to stand sponsor for their stage career. Their natural qualifications would be sufficient to give them a place in the dramatic world, and their ability, whether inherited or not, would demand recognition on its own merits. While the setting of the play is not as sumptuous as would be expected of such a production, the interest in the comedy itself is so absorbing that were it given on a bare stage it would have been an enthusiastically received. The lines are brimming over with cleverness and wit, each character commands unusual interest because its counterpart is found in every-day life.

"The Rivals" ranks among the best plays of its time in its clever, clean-cut character delineation. Mr. Joseph Jefferson assumes the character of Sir Lucius O'Trigger, investing it with a rollicking humor and a dash of aristocratic refinement, along with a touch of the Irish ancestry of the smaller parts of the play. As the genial soldier of fortune, loyal and honorable, capricious and lovable, he fitted into this niche nicely.

The "Boh Acres" of William Jefferson was beyond reproach in point of finished acting, and won the plaudits of his audience through all three acts. His portrayal of the jovial, rustic from the country taking on the manners and fine clothes of city life was exceptionally clever and in the dual scene he did some of the best acting that has been seen in any comedy for some seasons.

One felt a certain intimacy with Mrs. Malaprop for the pictures she conjured up of certain other Mrs. Malaprops that "are amongst us." Miss Rhea Band in this role showed skilled art. Her personality was tremendously pleasing and she invested the character with a certain air which made her "language" all the more ridiculous by contrast.

An extremely fascinating and graceful Lydia Langrish was Miss Blanch Bender. Her natural charm of face and manner combined with her skill in acting to make a most interesting figure of this capricious, winsome maid.

The "David" of Phillip Bishop is worthy of especial praise, as is also the "Sir Anthony" of T. C. Hamilton, which was most excellent. Leopold Lane likewise scored with the audionce in his role of the gallant Captain Absolute.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 12.—One hundred citizens of San Diego arrived in Los Angeles by special train on the Santa Fe this afternoon to attend the county committee semi-annual meeting of the California Prevention Committee here tomorrow. A special train is hurrying south from San Francisco with 200 delegates from the bay counties and the Sacramento valley. Still others are coming from the San Joaquin valley.

"The tourist in California," will be the main theme for discussion and a number of papers will be read relative to entertaining tourist business and increasing it.

Social and Club News

The ladies of the Y. W. C. A. board of managers enjoyed a delightful day in the country yesterday with Mrs. Wylie J. Giffen. The officers are now campers from Fowler and are living on the old Butler vineyard, several miles from town. They have remodeled the old Butler home and made it an ideal country home. Mrs. Giffen displayed the most charming sort of hospitality yesterday to seventeen of the board ladies and several of their friends.

Sociality and work was most pleasantly combined, the ladies busy themselves with fancy work for the coming bazaar which they expect to hold in December.

The big living room served as a dining room for the occasion, the long table presenting a most attractive appearance decorated in golden autumn leaves and yellow chrysanthemums, carrying out a most artistic white and gold color scheme to harmonize with the luncheon service.

A sumptuous country luncheon was served and several merry hours spent at the table. Afterwards the guests strolled in the garden and later returned to their sewing.

Those who enjoyed this charming day included Mrs. Sayre, Miss Julia Sayre, Mrs. W. J. Kittrell, Mrs. A. E. Snow, Mrs. M. L. Woy, Mrs. A. V. Lichten, Mrs. D. E. Allison, Miss Florence Webster of Michigan, Mrs. L. P. Swift, Miss Ruth Nil, Mrs. H. C. Warner, Mrs. G. R. Taylor, Mrs. H. Gordon Giffen of Dinuba, Mrs. G. H. Northington, Mrs. J. D. Morgan, Mrs. S. S. Hooker, Mrs. A. B. Evans, Mrs. C. H. Hotelling.

Among other matters discussed at the luncheon table was the coming "tag day" which the association expects to hold within a few weeks. A committee has been appointed to form a plan of campaign including Mrs. A. B. Evans, Mrs. H. C. Warner, Mrs. D. D. Allison, Mrs. L. P. Swift, Mrs. J. D. Morgan.

Miss Emma Glass is visiting friends in San Jose for a few days. She expects to attend the Berkeley-Stanford football game in Berkeley today, and will return home on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Phillips are entertaining as their guests for a week, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Dillman of Los Angeles, who have been guests of their hosts on several previous occasions.

The Friday Study club met yesterday with Mrs. A. Howe for a most enjoyable "reciprocity day." Five very interesting papers from the state reciprocity bureau were read before the club, forming the entire afternoon's session. The papers and their authors were as follows: "Ideal Reciprocity" by Mrs. F. M. Matley of San Francisco; "The Temple We Build" by Mrs. DeWitt B. Williams, San Francisco; "Autumnal Music" by Miss Weston, San Francisco; "F"

Among several pleasant inge parties at the performance of "The Rivals" at the Barton last night was one given by Mr. and Mrs. Hartwell P. Knight in honor of Miss Ada Taylor of Hanford, who is their guest for the week end. Afterwards the guests enjoyed a supper at the Hughes grill. With Mr. and Mrs. Knight in the loge were Miss Taylor, Miss Smith, Tom McInture and A. W. Smith.

Mrs. Knight will entertain at an informal bridge afternoon today in Miss Taylor's honor.

ILL OMENS DID NOT FRIGHTEN TWO COUPLES

The superstitious might make much of the fact that yesterday was Friday, and the 13th of the month, ill omens enough to dissuade some from entering upon an important enterprise. Despite these ominous two young couples applied to the county clerk for licenses to marry. They were:

Abram B. Robles of 1815 Tulare, aged 25, and Esperanza Roena, aged 19, California born.

John Arthur Sutton, aged 20, and Ora L. Thurman, aged 18; California born. G. D. Sutton, father of the youth, consented to the marriage.

Will Prevent Collision.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 13.—Dr. H. Miller, an electrical engineer in the Union Pacific shops, has equipped an engine in the yards with a device which the officials declare will greatly lessen the danger of collisions. It enables dispatchers and station agents to signal engineers between stations, thus putting them practically in constant touch with running trains.

MAIL CLERK LOOMS UP IN READ CASE

May Give Solution as to Sanity of Mrs. Phipps' Blackmailer in Denver.

DENVER, Nov. 13.—Upon the story of E. J. Sawyer, a United States railway mail clerk, the Denver police are depending for a partial solution of the mystery which surrounds Mrs. Allen E. Read, who last Monday attempted to extort $20,000 from Mrs. Genevieve Phipps, on threats of dynamiting.

Sawyer, it was learned today, met Mrs. Read while enroute to Denver and accompanied her to the American house, where she first registered under the name of Mrs. Cone.

Both the police and friends of Mrs. Read are anxious to locate the mail clerk who befriended the woman on the morning of her arrival in the city. The authorities hope to show that Mrs. Read was rational at that time and trying to conceal her identity until she could carry out an alleged conspiracy to extort money from Mrs. Phipps and other women. They expect that Sawyer's story will show that mentally the woman was responsible and with no indication of insanity at that time.

On the other hand the woman's husband and physician are hoping to get new proof of the woman's identity when they locate Sawyer.

They declare that Mrs. Read was sane when she arrived in Chicago; that she was insane when she secured $20,000 in bonds from a Chicago bond house and that she did not recover her senses while on the train until after the attempt to blackmail Mrs. Phipps was made. In proof of this they say that she was so confused and helpless at the time she did not know what she was doing.

Sawyer, it is said, is out of the city on his regular run on the Burlington road and is being sought by the police to reach him in the hope that he may throw some light on Mrs. Read's arrival in this city.

Torney now is in charge of the general hospital at San Francisco. The vacancy in the surgeon generalship will occur on January 14th.

The secretary of war stated that Col. Torney's appointment was based on his splendid record as an administrative officer and as a surgeon. He was not a candidate for the position.

Didn't Aid Big Embezzlement.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 13.—Addison C. Altner, former discount clerk of the Allegheny National bank, was today found not guilty of aiding and abetting former Cashier William Montgomery in the embezzlement of over $200,000 from the bank. The shortage of the Allegheny National bank is said to be $1,250,000, and Montgomery recently was convicted on charges of embezzlement and abstraction of sums aggregating over $600,000.

Harry G. Watson, former teller of the Allegheny National bank was held to the federal grand jury today upon a charge of aiding and abetting former Cashier Montgomery in the abstraction of $469,000 of the bank's funds.

"PAID IN FULL" HAILED BY CRITICS AS PLAY OF THE HOUR

Scene from "Paid in Full," the Barton's attraction tomorrow evening.

It is no exaggeration to state that hundreds of plays have gone upon the boards of defeat simply because the critics did not care for them, and there may have been much of worth in them. To find the critics of New York and Chicago in a universal mood is a rare thing, but that is what "Paid in Full" found when Wagners and Knickerbocker presented this play of contemporary life in America by Eugene Walter at the Astor theater in New York and at the Grand Opera House in Chicago.

By every individual critic the play was hailed as a startling success and the criticisms were as a unit in declaring that it was "the play of the hour" and not only did they eulogize it the day after production but even today they are directing unusual attention to it as the play with the direct appeal to every class of citizen. The success of "Paid in Full" was and is unequivocal.

Mr. Walter has performed a masterful piece of work in the photographic drawing of his characters, there is not a weak figure among them, and for virility, forcefulness and real life the play has no equal on the American stage today. A specially organized

CLEAN UP BY FIRE OF REGISTRATION AFFIDAVITS

There will be an overhauling and clean up in the little room annex of the county clerk's office in which the registration affidavits collected for several years are stored and which records for all practical purposes are so much waste paper at this time. The accumulations cover a period of five years and authorization was granted yesterday by the supervisors to the county clerk to destroy these records by fire. According to section 1103 of the political code these affidavits must be preserved for five years, after which an authority-granted they may be destroyed.

C. MEN MEASURED FOR KHAKI UNIFORMS
Commendatory Letter to the Guards By the Governor Published.

At the weekly drill assembly of Company C, the greater portion of the evening was taken up with the measuring of rifle exercises and calisthenics without arms. During the evening the men were measured also for the new khaki uniforms which will be ordered from the East. The company will give a dance on Friday, 20th. The dances will be announced by a bugle call, bringing in practically all the infantry calls of the army. There will be a "sandwich mess" and a musical drill during the intermission.

Circular No. 6 from the adjutant general's office at Sacramento has been received, making public the following commendatory letter from Governor Gillett addressed to him:

Dear General: I desire to congratulate the officers and enlisted men of the National Guard of California who participated in the joint military exercises with troops of the regular army at the camp of instruction, Atascadero, Cal., in the early part of October last, for their zeal, their excellent deportment, their proficiency, and their splendid appearance while in camp. That the National Guard of this state is an efficient body of men was clearly demonstrated by the very satisfactory manner in which they performed field and camp duties while at Atascadero.

The encampment was a success from every viewpoint, and the benefits to be derived by the soldiers of the state from the instruction imparted to them by specially detailed officers and enlisted men of the regular army will be of great value. The willingness on the part of the guardsmen to participate in all the exercises was proof of their pride as citizens and soldiers and of the desire to serve their state and nation as best they knew.

No specific branch of discipline worthy consideration was observed or reported, and the reputation of the members of the guard for good conduct and other soldierly attributes while under military restraint was maintained throughout the encampment period.

The painstaking efforts on the part of the officers and enlisted men of the regular army to teach the state soldiers in the art of war were appreciated by the latter, whose eagerness to absorb every bit of instruction and information given them by their instructors was a subject of favorable criticism by the higher military authorities.

In fact the very creditable showing made by officers and enlisted men of the National Guard of California is worthy the praise of every citizen of the state, and it is to be hoped that this very important branch of the state government will receive from our people the attention and encouragement which it so much deserves.

Yours very truly,
(S) J. N. GILLET, Governor.

IN THE LODGE ROOM.
At the meeting last night of Fresno Encampment No. 74, T. O. O. F., William H. Blumhardt, John Young and Dr. F. A. Aramson were given the patriarchal degree. Next Friday evening the Golden Rule degree will be conferred and the first nomination of officers will be made.

EMPIRE ACTORS ARE CHAMPIONS

Won Four Straight Games from Novelty Cyclones.
Yesterday's Battle Was for Blood, Whirlwinds Winning By 17 to 7 Score.

Eighteen actors, ex-actors and near-actors risked their lives at Recreation park yesterday afternoon in the final battle of the season between the Novelty Cyclones and the Empire Whirlwinds. The game was the fifth and last for the championship of Fresno, and consequently "blue" was spilled from the rise of the curtain until the climax at the end of the ninth act.

The members of both clubs played as they never played before in their lives. Every one was on his toes and sufficient pepper was injected into the big show to last the fair sized crowd of fans in attendance for many moons to come. In fact the boys tried to win the valuable game as it should be pulled off with such vigor that all were complaining of sore arms last night.

"This is a sad, sad story to relate. For really it seemed a shame to see the Empire troupe trot around the sacks, while the Novelty company was practically powerless before the superior tackling of Little Johnny McEachan, with the exception of one act, when the Cyclones chased four around the stage. Their remaining runs came in two different innings, the final score being 17 to 7.

The heavy blitzing of the Whirlwinds won the game, aided by superior base running. The hitting of the rival insurgents, which was about equal, but with 13 errors being chalked up on either side.

"Happy" Thompson started the game on the mud-hill for the Novelty. He was as wild as a March hare and walked the first two men, who faced him, Hoon and Garman.

Hoon's out at first sacrificed the pair, both scoring on Hoon's safe drive over second. Jimmy Burrows and Low Virden also clouted, the leather into safe territory and when the side was finally retired in the opening round, five runs had crossed the rubber.

The Novelty came back with one in their hull, Beck making the circuit on a hit and two errors. McEachan's great work on the club blanked the Cyclones in the second, while three more souls were added to the calendar by the Empire.

In the third frame, poor support behind McEachan gave the Cyclones four more, but aside from this poor lining, the Whirlwind was too powerful and rebounded the Cyclones from view.

Hogan and McEachan made the circuit in the fourth and fifth acts, respectively, after which Captain Chaverry's southern of the Cyclones decided that Thompson was too weak in the leading role and Stanton was switched from first to the third base. Southern replaced the former at the hot hit station.

"Happy" Thompson went to third. He failed to cover himself with glory, however, playing a safe game throughout.

Stanton started out like a baron winner, shutting out the Whirlwinds in the sixth. But in the seventh they pounded his pit-halls for two more. In the eighth, the slaughter of the innocents arrived, five men appearing before the footlights, each run being earned, as Hogan, Burrows, Virden, McEachan and Berger savored the cover off the ball.

The stage director came to the rescue at this hour and rang down the curtain. Ed Kennedy, who had nerve enough to stand behind the pitcher's box and call a ball a strike and a strike a ball, was announced as the umpire. The umpire of the fans thought he was a stage hand who was given a bit in the play. At any rate, he forgot his lines in one or two of the scenes.

Low Virden, the pitiable first sacker of the champions, led his team mates with the stick, getting four singles out of four times up. Hogan, Hoon and Berger of the Empire also clouted the ball on the beam.

For the Novelty, Stanton, Griggs, Thompson, Southern, Beck and Caldwell starred, Caldwell caught a fine game behind the bat, while Stanton and Southern snubbed everything that came their direction.

The series between the baseball clubs of the rival theaters having been concluded, the standing of the teams follows:

Won Last Day.
Whirlwinds 1 506
Cyclones 1 290
Southern's club annexed the opening game two months ago at Recreation park by a score of 10 to 7, in a sensational ninth inning finish. Since that date the Whirlwinds have taken four straight games. This gives them the undisputed championship of the city.

The score by innings of yesterday's slug-fest follows:
Cyclones 104 and 611-7
Whirlwinds 220 and 254-17
Empire, Kenosha.

The batting order of the teams was:
Cyclones—Southern, 2nd; Beck, 2d; Stanton, 3d; Caldwell, 4d; Hoon, 5d; Knudlock, 6d; Chapman, 7d; Griggs, 8d; Thompson, 9th; Turner, 10d.
Whirlwinds—Hoon, 2d; Chapman, 3d; Hogan, 4d; Hadden, 5d; Burrows, 6d; Virden, 7d; McEachan, 8d; Berger, 9d; Rose, 10d.
Farwell Banquet Tonight.

Low Virden, the leading comedian at the Empire, who holds down first base for the Whirlwinds, will give a farewell spread to the members of the Whirlwind company tonight, following the regular evening performance.

The splendid dressing rooms of the Gertie Dunlap company in the rear of the building will be thrown open to the hospitality of the rival company. A big medium is to be prepared and an enjoyable time is assured.

BOGUS CHECK PASSER GIVES HIMSELF UP
An Armenian, aged 26 years, giving his name as S. K. Tashjian, appeared at the county jail at about 9 o'clock last night in company with a fellow-countryman, and asked to be locked up. The Armenian stated that he was the man for whom the officers are searching and that a warrant is out for his arrest on a charge of passing fictitious checks at California several weeks ago.

Sheriff Childs and Night Jailor Captain Leahy looked the matter up and learned that such a man was wanted on the charge stated. Tashjian was locked up after his friend confirmed the statements of the defendant.

DRIVING CLUB TO BE FORMED HERE

Horsemen Will Give Several Meets on Local Track.
New Club Is to Replace Former One, Now Gone Out of Existence.

Plans are being consummated for the forming of a driving or motor club in Fresno and several well known horsemen have interested themselves toward that end. Among the prime movers in the project are Dave L. Bachant, A. Carman and Dr. Hottel.

It is proposed that the men who take an interest in harness racing come together and formulate plans for giving several driving meets during the coming winter months on the local track, which is considered as one of the fastest mile tracks in the West.

Mr. Carman and Mr. Bachant yesterday issued a call for the first meeting to be held this evening in Judge Smith's court.

At this conference plans will be launched for a permanent organization of horsemen in this section of the state. A copy of the circular issued to the horsemen yesterday is given herewith.

PASSING AWAY OF MERCED PIONEER

G. J. Abeling Dead from Cancer of the Stomach.

Came to State in 1859 and Located on Plains Near Los Banos.

LOS BANOS, Nov. 13.—George J. Abeling, a man of prominence in politics, a staunch Republican, a pioneer of this county and a man well thought of, breathed his last today at his home, 610 acres leased of Miller & Lux, about five miles from this city. Since May he has complained of stomach trouble, which developed into cancer, but he apprehended no ill effect until about a week before election, since which time he had been unable to leave the house.

He has brothers in New York state, but no word has been received from them. He was born in Montgomery county, New York, April 2, 1836. He came to California in 1859 and located on the plains near here and was also in San Joaquin county, where he is well known. For many years he was engaged in sheep raising, which he followed until 1888, but since that time has turned extensively to farming. He has been afflicted with cancer of the stomach, loss of sleep and sickness have left him heavily emaciated. He kept the San Luis ranch hotel, on Pacheco road, of a long time and was quite a host master for this district for quite a while.

Mr. Abeling was married twice. The first wife, formerly Mrs. Riggs Farmer, died about fifteen years ago. He afterward married his step-daughter, then Mrs. Lou Rucker, who afterward left him and married Dr. C. E. Boyer, whose widow she is. He has an adopted son, Willie Claypool, whose address is unknown.

The funeral will take place Saturday at 2 p. m. from the Methodist church and the remains be placed in a casket in Los Banos cemetery.

Underwriter (J. J. Rice, Constable H. M. Bernstein, A. P. Patmott and Ernest Newport of Hanford, appraisers of the estate of Joe Ruse, spent part of Sunday looking over the property of the deceased. Mr. Ruse, it will be remembered, committed suicide at Lator about two months ago. With what property there was of Lator and with his property here, after the payments of all claims, this in this city will be left clear of encumbrance.

Frank Mison, and family, of Dos Palos colony were visitors in this city the first of the week. Mr. Mison is superintendent of the colony ranch of Miller & Lux. In the dairy the milking machine is in use and has proven a success.

James O. Wanser, C. E., who was employed in the work of the survey of the Fresno-Hatchy basin for the San Francisco water supply, is visiting his mother in this city for two weeks.

Civer Helsem and wife of San Francisco are here as the guests of Mr. Helsem's sister, Mrs. W. S. Fought. Mr. Helsem is an electrical engineer.

W. C. White, manager of the Miller & Lux store, arrived home Wednesday night from Berkeley after a few days spent there on business.

Dr. Sophia J. McClelland left last Saturday night to be at the bedside of her daughter at San Jose. City Trustee J. V. Toscano is home after a few days spent at San Francisco.

C. D. Dudley left for San Jose Wednesday forenoon to visit his father, who is seriously ill.

TULARE CLUB WILL HAVE HOLIDAY JINKS

No. 107 on the S. P. Is Proving Popular Theater Train.

Visalians Coming on Saturday to Compete for County Football Honors.

TULARE, Nov. 13.—The Tulare club has decided to hold a holiday high jinks December 17th. The club was organized about six months ago and has proved to be a successful undertaking. It has all of the apparatuses that go with a modern first-class business man's club, and the members, frequent ladies' days are given, and the pool tables, reading rooms, and club advantages are much enjoyed by the ladies. The club has non-resident members who make use of the social privileges during their visits. Visiting fellows of the members are also given consideration. The No. 107 on the S. P., which leaves here for Fresno at 5:30 p. m., proves to be attractive to people who wish to go to Fresno to the theater. The train arrives at Fresno at 7:15, giving plenty of time before the curtain rises. The southbound club leaves Fresno at 11:15, on which people can return after the show.

The remains of Mrs. Martha Downing, a former resident of this city, who died at Berkeley last Wednesday, will arrive this morning, and will be buried in the Tulare cemetery. The funeral will be held from the residence of Mr. C. Zuavalt, Mrs. Downing leaves five children.

Tulare and Visalia highs will battle for football honors tomorrow on the Tulare gridiron. The boys are planning for a big crowd and have great hopes of carrying off the prize. Tulare will have a big day and wants many visitors to enjoy the fun.

DISCHARGED EMPLOYEE SHOTS MILLIONAIRE

Crowd Sees Desperate Man Pump Lead Into Jersey City Dairyman, Walter Ammon.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—In view of hundreds of persons in the Pennsylvania depot in Jersey City today, Walter Ammon was shot three times in the head and body and died on the way to the hospital. The man who did the shooting was quickly caught. He gave the name of Andrew McGrath, but refused to make any statement. Mr. Ammon was a member of the dairy firm of Ammon & Persons.

McGrath said that he had been employed as a salesman by Ammon & Persons and had been discharged. At the office of the firm it was said that the attack on Ammon was the result of trouble over business matters.

Mr. Ammon was one of the wealthiest business men of Jersey City, a director of the Commercial Trust Company and of the Third National Bank of Jersey City and of the Union League Club. He was a manufacturer of butters and butter products. It was his custom to come to New York daily to transact business and he was returning from such a trip today when he was shot.

McGrath made a short statement to the police in which he said that he was satisfied to "take his medicine."

Court Rules That Girl Child Left in Brotherhood Homestead Was Not Abandoned.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Nov. 13.—Judge Lewis of the Superior court this noon rendered his decision in the case of John Fitzpatrick against May Fitzpatrick, which has become of especial interest because the abandoned Brotherhood Homestead was involved in that the child was in the custody of the homestead. The action primarily was brought to modify the decree of divorce by which the custody of the daughter was awarded to the mother. Fitzpatrick in his complaint asked that the child be given to him on the ground that the mother had abandoned it to the homestead; that it was not properly nourished at the institution and that it was taught Theosophy instead of Christianity.

The decision of Judge Lewis was that the allegation of abandonment had not been shown but that it had been proven, on the other hand, that the mother was constant in the care for the child; that it had not been shown that the child had not been properly nourished, but that it had been proven that the people at the homestead had been particularly watchful of the welfare of the child as of other children there. In the matter of religion the judge decided that the law of the state would not permit him to take it. He, however, stated that the testimony showed that Theosophy as a religion was not taught in the school. The decision leaves the custody of the child with the mother and therefore at the Theosophical Homestead, where the mother resides.

ANOTHER SALOONMAN UPON THE CARPET

Complaint Filed to Revoke the License of S. A. Woody of Pollasky.

The question of the revocation of another county liquor license has been passed up squarely to the supervisors. This time it is by the supervisors of E. C. Beger of Pollasky, complaining against Saloonkeeper S. A. Woody of the town, who, on the 15th of May, applied for a license to sell and dispense spirituous, malt and fermented liquors and on the 25th of August procured his license from the county collector and has since been engaged in the business at Pollasky.

Complaint is made that Woody has on frequent and numerous occasions violated the state laws in his place of business by knowingly and purposely selling and dispensing and permitting his henchmen, Vic Silvas, to sell and dispense spirituous, malt and fermented liquors to minors and to U. E. Burford and Harry Starr, boys under the age of 21 years, on the 15th of September, 1908.

Beger asks that a day may be fixed for the hearing of this complaint and after investigation to revoke the permission and license if the complaint is well founded. The supervisors fixed the date for hearing the charges for the 19th.

RAYMOND HITCHCOCK WILL NOT BE TRIED

Jerome Finds He Cannot Convict Comedian, and Bail Money Is All Diminished.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Raymond B. Hitchcock, the comedian, probably never will be tried on the two indictments now standing against him as the result of a charge preferred against him by three young girls. District Attorney Jerome publicly announced in court today that he has abandoned hope of convicting Hitchcock and upon his recommendation the bail of $7500 under which Hitchcock has been held was discharged. It is likely that his attorneys will within a few days move for a dismissal of the indictments.

The arrest of Hitchcock and his subsequent indictment and trial caused quite a sensation in the theatrical circles about a year ago. He was acquitted of two of four indictments found against him after Flora Whiston, one of the complainants, confessed that she testified falsely against Hitchcock. She is now under $5000 bail in connection with the perjury charges.

POLICE BELIEVE MAN MUTILATED HIMSELF

OAKLAND, Nov. 13.—With a deep wound in his throat which he claims was the work of two thieves who he alleges would him last night, Charles Rhyard, aged 67, was found near the Receiving hospital this morning. He had been mutilated elsewhere in a horrible manner, which led the police to believe that the story of holdups is fabrication and that the man, acting upon some insane impulse, inflicted the injuries to himself.

TERRY APPOINTED A U. S. TREASURER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The President today appointed George B. Terry to be assistant treasurer of the United States at New York in succession to Hamilton Fish.

Mr. Terry served as assistant treasurer of the Republican national committee under Treasurer George E. Sheldon. The assistant treasurership of New York was first offered to Job E. Hedges, who declined the honor.

Sigma Chi in Conviction.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—The grand officers of the Sigma Chi fraternity, one of the principal college fraternities in the United States, have been in attendance at the Province convention of the fraternity, which closes tomorrow, with a view of investigating San Francisco as a convention city and will probably recommend that the national biennial convention of the Sigma Chi next year be held here.

The universities of Oregon, Montana, Utah, Washington, Berkeley, Stanford and Southern California were represented in the Province convention, which is holding a three days' session.

Appeal Stops Hanging.

OAKLAND, Nov. 13.—Mark A. Whitten, convicted of the murder, near Elmhurst, of Mrs. Verdie Carmin, supposed to be his wife, and sentenced to be hanged today at San Quentin, will not pay the penalty imposed for his crime until a final adverse decision has been reached in his case, which has been appealed on a motion for a new trial.

LOST SCIENTIS FOUND A LUNATIC

Mark W. Harrington, Missing Ten Years, Located in an Asylum, Hopelessly Insane.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Prof. Mark W. Harrington, formerly chief of the United States weather bureau, who mysteriously dropped out of sight nearly ten years ago, has been found a hopeless mental wreck in the New Jersey asylum for the insane at Morris Plains. He has been an inmate of the asylum since he was found wandering aimlessly about the streets of Trenton more than a year ago. Such is his condition that he has been unable to tell the asylum officials anything about himself, and it was not until yesterday that his identity was established. Then the wife of the former weather bureau chief visited the asylum and identified the man as her missing husband.

Mrs. Harrington, who lives in this city, said today that although her husband had changed greatly since his departure from home ten years ago and did not recognize her when she visited him at the asylum, she is certain of her identification.

Mrs. Harrington says that since the time her husband had left their home some ten years ago she had heard from him twice. Shortly after he left, another coming from Raleigh, N. C., and another postmarked Washington, D. C. He did not say in either letter why he left home or when he expected to return.

Professor Harrington was a graduate of the University of Michigan, where he afterwards held the chair of astronomy. President Harrison appointed him chief of the weather bureau in 1881, from which office he was removed in 1885 by President Cleveland. After this Professor Harrington became president of the University of Washington at Seattle.

Late Fall Developments In the Paris Mode

PARIS, Oct. 24.—The extravagance of women! How men love to make this a purely feminine trait! But women through all ages have had to bear the opprobrium of being stamped extravagant creatures, and this winter, if they pretend to keep up with the dress movement, they are bound to deserve the epithet. But in no way are they more extravagant than in their good looks. There, messieurs, are you not disappointed? Women waste their vitality and consequently their good looks to a deplorable degree, and this, in my opinion, is the only direction in which they are not justified in being extravagant. It is a common thought that illness brings a score of worries into a woman's life, but it happens more often that worries bring a score of illnesses.

Women worry and brood over little things that are really entitled to no more than an instant's reflection, and if there is any doubt as to the truth of this study any crowd of faces and see how many have a habitual expression of peace or even contentedness. Cultivating a good expression of face is a legitimate occupation for women, and no subtle is the connection between mind and body that an effort honestly exerted to improve the expression will have a salutary effect upon the character itself. The lines of expression are an infallible index of the character, but lines of advancing age must not be confused with lines of character. A woman's mirror should be the only friend from whom she can bear the truth without wincing. Let her consult it every day, not for the purpose of being flattered, but to learn what faults may be corrected. Many of us fall into habits of expression which no friend would dare to mention for fear of hurting her feelings. People of nervous temperament easily take up these habits, such as screwing up the lips, frowning, frowning, or thinking. Slowly, but surely, each time you wear a worried look, nature's artist graves one degree deeper the lines which the unpleasant expression has made. Nothing is more nobly expressive than the clear, well formed brow. It should not wrinkle, until late in life, perhaps never, if properly cared for. Yet it is so impressionable that it is the first to adopt an unnatural expression. The most frequent way that brows go astray is to assume the surprised look. The wise girl will therefore enter upon a preventive course of treatment that will actually stay the results of the hand of time for many years and in the long run reduce to a minimum its unfriendly influence. There are lots of means by which old Time may be cheated at his own game, but should I attempt to tell them this fashion letter would become a beauty talk.

Paris is not "at home" yet, and no Parisian would own to being back in town, although houses are open and people are seen hurrying furiously to keep appointments at their dressmakers, but no one ever admits any one, although every one recognizes every one else and knows of each other's return. Many are, indeed, quite settled for the winter, yet they will not be seen until the middle of December. It is a strange custom and not at all favorable to the growth of friendship. Parisians may only meet at stated seasons and according to the inexorable law of etiquette. The terror of encroaching on their neighbor's freedom rules them. No one ever calls on friends or acquaintances before being repeatedly invited to do so, and even then the call must be made on the "day" or not at all. In Paris people do not drop in unexpectedly to spend a few social hours with an intimate friend without ceremony or warning. When Parisians receive they are always prepared and give themselves endless trouble to make the reception something splendid. Naturally these functions do not take place in the average family very often. This lack of home-entertaining accounts for the crowded houses at the theater. And speaking of the play, it is at the matinee performances one sees the smartest costumes of the big game, for the races at Auteuil, the day of the drags, the Derby at Chantilly, are no longer places to which one goes for a dress review. The dressmakers send manikins tricked out in sensational costumes to these meets, but the really elegant woman is conspicuous for the simplicity of her attire. Indeed, the Grand Prix from a sartorial standpoint was a distinct failure this year.

Style Is Out of Date.

But style, as we have been accustomed to interpret the term, does not exist in the present mode. Women are resembling nothing more than Egyptian mummies swathed about in yards and yards of material. The human form divine for the time being is in evidence, but the shapelier sister had better make hay while the sun shines, for womanhood may not long go in for this morbid curveless cut. There are three characteristics of the winter fashions—high collars, long sleeves and high waisted skirts. We have had high collars before, but they were not topped with ruching as imposing as the neckband itself. Long sleeves, too, are no novelty, but the manche of yesterday did not reach down to the finger tips, and the tight skirt of today is loosely draped, although the effect is that of a tight fitting jupe.

The directoire separate waist is an evolution of the blouse that meets the demand of the high waisted skirt. This dainty little piece of frivolity is not unlike a deep pulque, and so delicate is the effect of the material used and the hand work employed that one immediately thinks of infant garments in connection with them. The sleeve of the directoire blouse is the piece de resistance of the creation, and it is elaborate to the verge of ornamentation, and, as a rule, the sleeve demarcation is very vague or obliterated entirely. Where white is not used for the di-rectoire waist it is introduced about the face in some fashion. The old style of separate waist left much to be desired in artistic effect, but when the present ensemble comes into view it is a real blow not only to one's sense of color, but to one's sense of proportion. The high waisted skirts worn with the directoire waists have either a deep sash as a finish or flat, narrow folds; but, whatever the ornamentation, the same ageless alliance is maintained. Tailored waists are worn with these skirts as well as the lingerie styles.

The New Belts.

Appropos of belts, the Parisienne is going to wear house frocks of white silk or cloth encircled with a wide, soft belt of colored velvet four inches wide and worn quite plain. It is placed just below the bust and is simply hooked at the back or front under a flap. This is all there is to the affair, but it is very effective and new. These belts are of the spangled empire. On evening frocks of a light shade sashes of black or in softer shades are exceedingly chic. Collet has designed a pale pink gown with a sash of taupe, a strange but alluring combination. This touch of taupe is one of the leading fancies of the year, and the demand is being met not only in fabrics, but by the shoe and stocking manufacturers, who have sent out the daintiest evening slippers and embroidered silk stockings in this shade. The slippers and ties usually have some kind of embellishment on the instep.

A charming taupe-bradecloth gown in first quality style—this is the latest sartorial change rung out by the directors—has a long, slightly pointed train to its tight fitting skirt. The coat reaches almost to the hem of the gown and is slashed up in the back and at the sides, the interstices filled in with a button-work of taupe ribbon velvet and tiny buttons of the velvet worked in pale blue silk. Larger buttons similarly ornamented trim the skirt up the front seam and are repeated on the coat bodice. The large triangular revers are hand embroidered in shades of pale blue and taupe. A stunning creation is this first quality suit. Speaking of this style recalls me of a pretty young matron who was complaining the other day to her dressmaker that it was utterly impossible to walk like a normal human being, with real live limbs, in a directoire gown. It is becoming to a pretty figure, I grant, and makes one an exquisite picture, but women can't stand still and be pictures all the time, as if glued to one position like the figures in Noah's ark. "No," she concluded; "I refuse to bow to this absurd fashion."

Have You Seen the New Veil?

When it comes to putting a veil on one of the enormous hats of the season even the woman who generally knows how to admit herself beaten, and if rules according to Boyle are followed they prove ineffective. To wear a veil twisted into a small knot under the chin is one of the solecisms of the season, so that straightfold is taken away, and as women nowadays laud the floating effect this is anathema. So all was uncertainty until a Venetian milliner cut the gordin knot by a veil invention as pretty as it is convenient. For this new style veiling of a very wide and deep kind has to be used. This required length depends upon the size of the hat, for there are degrees of dimension in the biggest hats that are being realized when adjusting the veil is in process. The top of the veil is gathered in the edge of the hat, while at the bottom it is shirred up to a wide velvet ribbon matching the mesh in coloring. This band fits over the top of the gown collar and fastens behind with a hook under a small flat bow. Velvet edged with a piping of fur is very chic, and there are a number of ways of making this invention individual in character; but, whatever the variation, this practical expedient is going to be much in vogue this winter. CATHERINE TALBOT.

Some Recent Modes and a Little Philosophy; Fashion Chat and Sundry Other Topics

NOTICE some marked changes in tailor modes.

In the first place, the V shaped opening formed by the collar is a great deal lower than formerly. Many of the new coats close with one button, and from this point the coat springs away in a decided cutaway style.

Even when, for practical reasons, this opening is not desirable it is filled in by means of a contrasting vest, so that the effect is retained.

Buttons, buttons everywhere is the strongest fashion cry. You see them made of satin used in trimming dressy gowns of pale tinted cloth, and they appear on coats, ornamenting nearly every seam. Next to buttons in desirability comes soutache braid as a trimming. Entire panels are embroidered with this, and it appears often on dressy silk and satin gowns.

By the way, satin is, of course, the material for evening dresses and also for elaborate afternoon dresses up to the time when velvet may be worn.

Everything in the dressy costumes is three pieces. Really they are two piece creations, for the directly princess. I notice also that the yokes are cut out very deeply for the guimpes, which necessitates very pretty

Light fitting corset covers, as the yokes are all made of the thinnest net and lace.

The waist line is, of course, a minor consideration in all the new gowns. The hips are what count. You must draw them in. No woman can make the slightest pretension to style if she has hips this season. She may have a waist as large as she pleases.

New Small Hats. Small hats, praise be, are appearing in all the smart millinery shops. Those of lesser degree still flaunt the exaggerated shapes dear to the heart of the chapeau girl. The winter close most popular is the Charlotte Corday. Then comes the old fashioned turban trimmed with a bird or a bunch of flowers. Long feathers from the pheasant's tail are used for sole trimming on the side of mink toques, which, by the way, are to be immensely popular this winter.

Coarse Brussels net is taking the place of the finer variety, and it is used a great deal in tan. Tan waists are usually trimmed with bands of Persian.

The old fashioned throw scarf of fur gives place this winter to the peridot ruff, and any bright girl can make one.

You take a band of fur three inches wide and edge it top and bottom with a knife plaiting of ribbon; then at one end you fasten a huge rosette with two irregularly shaped ends. Brown satin ribbon is used with mink and sable, black with pointed fox and baby lamb, while snow white combined with ermine is perfectly stunning for evening wear.

The correct thing is to have a three piece set—the hat, the ruff and the muff matching. Then you can wear the combination with any costume.

Medish Footgear. Cloth top boots are again to be in vogue, but I don't recommend them for women who have weak ankles or for those who do not take good care of their footgear. Nothing grows shabbier sooner than a cloth top shoe if it is not placed on a tree like minute it is taken off.

To wear with the long sleeved net guimpes smart New York women are using a one button mink glove. This is sometimes embroidered to match the costume.

Speaking of embroidery, whole dresses are trimmed with nothing else but a panel back and front of this sort of handwork. I saw recently a beautiful dress of fawn colored broadcloth which had been trimmed in this way, and I assure you it was stunning, far more effective than if it had been plastered all over with the dingle-dangles so dear to the dressmaker's heart.

I could preach preaching simplicity. Whenever I see a woman killing herself in order to make elaborate costumes I want to tell her what a waste of strength it is and how much better she would look in a simple dress it would only take her half the time to make.

The Art of Being Content.

Nearly all the unhappiness in this world comes from the fact that we haven't the art of being satisfied with present conditions and of making the most of them. The woman who can afford only simple dresses wants elaborate ones and ruins her health to make them. The mother who has healthy, normal children wants them to be geniuses and tries to force their mental growth. The shy home body beneath a draped belt of black satin, drawn through a buckle. There is a wide panel down the front, braided for some distance down.

The myriad colors of this year's fashion scheme make the spectrum look tame and amateurish. Everything is seen from the faint tints of a winter's night to the gorgeous hues of an October forest. There is a wonderful mass of shimmering shades,

MISS MARY MANNERLING AS CHARMING BETSY PATTERSON.

In her new play, "Glorious Betsy," Miss Mannerling impersonates the beautiful young woman who became the wife of Jerome Bonaparte during his exile to this country. Her father was one of the richest men in America, and his daughter, Elizabeth, was the belle of Baltimore when Bonaparte came to America. The prince fell in love with her at first sight, and in spite of the protestations of all their friends the headstrong beauty became his wife. Dr. Carroll, first Roman Catholic bishop of Baltimore, officiating. The pope pronounced the marriage invalid, and Jerome remarried.

more varied, brighter and at the same time more complex and bewildering than anything that has been seen for years. Among the latest importations in dainty lingerie is a nightgown of crossbarred dimity. It is simply made, having a band of open embroidery at the round neck and about the loose elbow sleeves. Outside the embroidery is an inch-wide fold of thin muslin, through which the ribbons, either blue or white, are run. Shirred silk again faces fashionable hats, but the majority of the best ones have plain velvet or silk facings. A good many of the colored hats have black velvet facings, although black may play no other part on the hat. It is a becoming touch for many faces. Handsome blouses of crepe charmeuse, hand embroidered in self color wants to be a society woman. The old maid wants to get married, and the married woman sighs for her freedom once more.

Ye gods! We Americans are a restless, unhappy race. Both the men and the women want change all the time. Do you know, by the way, that Europeans think this country must be an awful hole because we are so quick to leave it and go over there whenever we have a vacation?

Can you blame them? Doesn't it look that way?

The Frenchman will not leave his beloved France, the German sighs for the fatherland, but the American is a citizen of the entire globe. You hear him laying down the law in far Japan and America in a raspy voice swearing at the time and thus is so.

It is due to the zeal of the American tourist that a railway is being built below the third cataract of the Nile, and in another year it will be possible to go through Africa from Cape Town to the mouth of the Nile leaving back in a parlor car most of the way, drinking American cocktails and running over an occasional monkey or lion. I have no doubt also that there will be an ice water tank aboard, considering that our patronage is expected to make the railroad pay dividends.

I shall never forget in Paris, at one of the music halls, a song entitled "Money." The girl came out dressed as the coins of different countries, and when the American dollar appeared, my friends, it received the kind of ovation you dream about. The audience almost split the roof in its ecstasy. It was very evident they had seen it many times before.

The Trick of Getting On.

There are some women who wonder why they don't get along better in this world.

I could tell them if I wanted to be so rude. It is because they are "scraping." A fight is as dear to them as a friendship, and that sort of thing isn't popular, you know.

Want an act it is to "get on" with people. To my mind it throws some of the showier accomplishments far into the shade.

Unpleasantness is the first requisite, of course, and a willingness to forget about your own nerves, aches and troubles comes a good second.

The woman who can get along with her own self, not indulging in nerves or having ups and downs, is in good training for getting along with others.

People who pride themselves on being frank are apt to be poor companions. We can't afford to indulge in any primeval virtues in these highly civilized days, and for the matter of that, there are lots and lots of times when frankness ceases to be a virtue altogether.

The positive woman is no blessing to her friends. Any one with the spirit of a caterpillar will show a tendency to be scrappy when some one else asserts in a loud, raspy voice that thus and thus is so and so.

Often the positive lady speaks of matters she knows nothing about, and, of course, this doesn't add to the pleasant feeling around her.

Then there's the woman who prides herself on having a strong character. I always run at the sight of her, for she is never satisfied to possess it in silence, but wants all those around her to feel it.

And then the people who say things because they must get them out of their system!

Ah, no, no, no! None of these quaint personalities for me! The sweet woman who "gets on" with every one is the desirable friend for

New York.

IN THE PENSION OFFICE.

A most interesting woman in the pension office is its translator, Mrs. Clara von Entress. When she received her appointment she, too, had little children to rear, five of them, German by birth and bringing up, her task in the pension office was to read and turn into English letters and documents received from foreign countries nearly all over the world. Although already far more knowledgeable than she had already, so at it she was studying new languages every moment she could find and keeping up with her work. How some of these women in the government departments at Washington have toiled to win their places none of their sex peeped and in luxurious homes could understand. Mrs. von Entress now has also languages at her command for translating foreign evidence papers.

The fine, sweet faces of many of the middle-aged women in the department impress a stranger strongly. Really, it does almost seem as though if it were women here to be middle-aged before they display brains, tact and gentle manners.

It is usually the person who has been much pleased with a look in the mirror who gushes over how well we are looking.

The directoire glove, laced up the sides instead of buttoned, is shown in all colors.

Without difficulty, and with these new pins there is no danger of tearing the veil or exciting the delicate fabric, as there is with the faner pins.

FAIRWEATHER APPOINTS THE SELLING COMMITTEE

Names Frisselle, Filian, Forsyth and Smilie To Act With Himself—Gartenlaub Says Pool Means 4 Cents.

John Fairweather, president of the recently organized growers' pool, yesterday announced the five men, who with himself, are to constitute the selling committee. The growers selected are: R. Frisselle, Kearney Estate; G. H. Filian, Parlier; A. J. Smilie, Del Rey; William Forsyth, Fresno. The appointment will be reported at today's meeting.

Mr. Fairweather, in making his appointment, has addressed the following statement to the growers: "We believe the time has come to begin to do business. We are satisfied that we have far more than 40 per cent of this year's crop signed with us, and we now want things to begin to move decently and in order, and as it becomes my duty, as expressed in open meeting by signers of the pool, that I should appoint five members, including myself, as a selling committee, and in our last Saturday's meeting it was virtually unanimous that a committee of five was enough. I therefore now appoint the following as that committee: John Fairweather, chairman, R. Frisselle, Kearney Estate, G. H. Filian, Parlier, A. J. Smilie, Del Rey, Wm. Forsyth, Fresno. With a full hope that this will be satisfactory to all, as I am positive it will fill the bill."

GARTENLAUB BELIEVES GROWERS WILL GET 4 CTS

Says With Strong Association Even 5 Cents Not Beyond the Possibilities.

A. Gartenlaub of San Francisco, manager of the Phoenix Packing company, stated yesterday that, in case a strong and successful association of growers and pool of raisins is formed, as planned, 4 cents in the market will yet be paid this season. However, Mr. Gartenlaub places the size of the present carry-over and new crop at 30,000 tons, at least, and says that, while the effect of a successful pool will be to stiffen the market, which exists, some goods will doubtless not be sold. He says another carry-over will certainly be had, and that such is normal at periods when there is no speculation.

HERBERT NOT READY TO TRY HIS CASE

Blasingame Estate Appraised at Total of $79,310.

Florence Higley Given Divorce from Deserting Husband Located in Butte Co.

The sensational claim case of Maurice Herbert of Pasadena, who is suing the Kearney Estate for $68,100 for plant and advice as an architect furnished the late raisin magnate for his Chateau Fresno dream at Kearney park was set down for trial yesterday before Judge Austin.

The forenoon was consumed in a long argument on the motion for the plaintiff for a continuance, the attorney for the corporation executor of the estate resisting the motion. Finally the matter was taken under advisement on briefs to be filed in forty days, the opening brief for the defendant to be the brief on the demurrer to the amended complaint.

The Blasingame Estate. The estate of the late Mary J. Blasingame has been appraised at a grand total of $79,310, according to the reported inventory filed yesterday by C. A. Schweizer, John J. White and A. P. Hoffman. There is cash on hand of $17,000, besides which there is a half interest in 52 parcels of land in Fresno, 11,700 and southeast quarter of 16-17-21, 22 returned at $1,000 with $600 improvements; section 36-11-20, $2,560; section 2-12-22, $2,550 with $100 improvements; 440 acres of 12-22, $1,300 and southeast quarter of 16-17-21, $2,400. In Modoc county are three parcels whose returned value is given at $1,250, and in the city of Fresno twelve parcels. The most valuable are lots 17-24 in city block 61, $8,000 with improvements of $12,000; block 11, $7,000 and $800 improvements; lots 1-7, 20-22 in block 112, $2,000 with $2,600 improvements.

Divorce Granted. Florence Higley, a very stylishly dressed young woman with Elizabethan ruff, was divorced by Judge Austin from George A. Higley on the testimony given by her and her attorney, L. H. Smith. The Higleys were married at Jackson, Amador county, in March, 1905, but lived together only a short time, he deserting in December. She sued on the ground of desertion and incidental failure to provide. Though her complaint was filed in July last, it was not until the 21st of last September that he was summoned served on him. He is an electrical engineer.

Dismissal Entered. Dismissal was entered yesterday in the suit of H. R. Crozier against the Ogontz Oil Company, Harry W. Thomas and J. B. Wynn. The action was to recover a total of $1,366.54 on assessed claims in twelve causes of action of the Cross Lumber Company and others for lumber and merchandise furnished, board of employees and services for logging.

A venire for twenty taleman has been ordered before Judge Austin for the 18th for the trial of the case of Earl W. Estees against the Humphrey Truay and Lumber Company.

THE WORD

means "hidden eye" and was first used to designate a particular form of cemented bifocal lens originated by Dr. R. M. Crawford of Philadelphia. Later experiments developed the fused bifocal which still carried the name "Kryptok." The policy of the patentees at first, was to sell territorial rights, but that plan was abandoned more than a year ago so that today your oculist or your optician can procure "Kryptoks" for you.
